

Suspects' Fate in Hands of Jury

By WALTER S. CLARK.

KINGSTON
A County Court jury that will decide the fate of two 25-year-old convicts accused of the murder of a Westchester County deputy sheriff resumed deliberations at 10 a.m. today after being locked up for the night at the Governor Clinton Hotel under guard of deputy sheriffs and court officers.

The case of Charles McGivern and Gerald McGivern charged with the killing of 63-year-old William Fitzgerald of North Tarrytown, during an alleged escape try on the State Thruway on Sept. 13, 1968, went to the jury of nine men and three women at about 3:30 p.m. yesterday at the conclusion of a charge on the points of law by County Judge Raymond J. Mino. The charge took approximately one hour and 20 minutes.

Culhane and McGivern face life imprisonment or death in the electric chair if convicted. The trial, which is in its fourth week, is the first in New York

State that potentially involves a capital punishment sentence this decade. In 1965 the death sentence was outlawed in the state except for crime involving murder of a law enforcement officer.

Before the case went to the jury, the jurors were told they may return one of three verdicts, guilty for each defendant, or guilty of one and not guilty for the other defendant. It was emphasized that the verdict must be unanimous.

At about 5 p.m. the jury returned to the courtroom and requested that testimony of Culhane given by him at trial, be read. The jurors also asked to see the bullets in evidence that were removed from Culhane and McGivern after the shooting incident.

The jury was called back to the courtroom at 10:48 p.m. Judge Mino said he had received a request from the jurors for a court ruling on whether the removal or opening of a security belt would constitute an attempt to escape from custody.

Culhane had testified that he saw a belt worn by another Auburn Prison inmate, who had participated in the September, 1968 incident, had been cut. He also had testified that the inmate, Robert Bowerman, who also was killed in the shooting incident, had reached over and opened the belt that he (Culhane) was wearing and then Culhane opened McGivern's belt.

In reply to the request, Judge

Mino said he would give the ruling today.

District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca in his summation yesterday afternoon referred to Culhane's version of the fatal incident as "a fantastic story."

He told the jurors that if they believe testimony of the prosecution witnesses there is no verdict that could be returned but guilty as charged.

Torraca referred to testimony of Deputy Sheriff Joseph Singer who was with Fitzgerald on the day of the shooting. He said

Culhane had testified that Singer's testimony was all lies. The prosecutor emphasized that witnesses for the People had corroborated the deputy's testimony.

Torraca said that the defense was trying to "cast blame on a guy who can't talk." He referred to Bowerman.

Defense attorneys referred to what they characterized as "inconsistencies" in the testimony of Singer, who was a key witness for the prosecution.

Paul Vladimir, Culhane's

attorney, referred to his client's testimony that he had never planned to escape from custody on the way to White Plains from Auburn prison to a court hearing. "He told you he was going home and see his mother and sister and brother," Vladimir said. He referred to letters in evidence in which Culhane had asked his mother and sister and brother to visit him when he arrived in White Plains.

In his final remarks to the jury, Vladimir referred to Bowerman as "a mad man."

"I challenge the prosecutor to show one lie in Culhane's testimony," the attorney said at one point.

Referring to a bullet that hit Culhane during the incident, Vladimir said to the jury, "If Charles Culhane was guilty, when that bullet entered his skull, God would have let him die."

Vladimir's summation was preceded by final remarks to the jury by McGivern's attorney, Joshua Koplovitz.

U.S. Extends Air War Deep Into Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has extended the Indochina air war deep into Cambodia for the first time with American pilots ranging far and wide in search for enemy targets.

In making the disclosure Monday, the Pentagon said U.S. planes have been striking at enemy troop and supply lines nearly every day for almost a week.

Officials indicated the bombing missions are likely to continue—probably on a daily basis if weather permits—long past the June 30 pullout deadline for American troops.

The White House declined to say whether any limitations have been placed on the aircraft.

One official conceded the flights could indirectly help Cambodian forces. If American planes bombed routes used to supply Communist forces fighting Cambodians, the official said, the Cambodians would benefit from the attacks.

However, he insisted the chief purpose of the attacks is to interdict supply lines and not provide air support for Cambodian forces.

Until the new air strikes were announced, enemy targets were thought to have been limited to supply lines and troop movements within the sanctuary areas along the South Vietnamese border.

Pentagon officials insisted the new raids—possibly as deep as 100 miles inside Cambodia—represent no widening or escalation of the war. They said the raids are against enemy infiltration routes and not in support of South Vietnamese ground operations inside Cambodia.

The Nixon administration had left open the possibility of bombing enemy supply lines and bases beyond the 21.7 mile limit established by the President for U.S. ground troops.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry Friedheim defined interdiction as being "other than close air support of ground troops or strategic bombing."

Friedheim said the new bombing runs were initiated when it became clear the enemy had re-established its Cambodian river supply lines west of the sanctuary areas.

Before U.S. and South Vietnamese ground forces pushed into the sanctuary areas last month, the enemy had been bringing troops and supplies down the Ho Chi Minh Trail running south from Laos and along the Cambodian-South Vietnamese border.

Friedheim explained the air interdiction of the enemy's new infiltration routes in Cambodia is the same as the U.S. bombing of the trail in Laos. The latter raids have been conducted for five years but weren't made public until earlier this year.

Note Soviet Rocket

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops drove a Cambodian battalion from two villages on the Mekong River about 11 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, and the retreating battalion commander said his men had discovered a Soviet rocket that could hit the capital.

As the battalion commander, Maj. Ros Preung, stood on the river bank at Mouk Khampoul, four Cambodian T28 planes attacked the occupied villages with napalm, setting most of the thatch and wood buildings afire. Cambodian troops said the villagers had fled to the south when an estimated 1,000 North Vietnamese attacked early today.

Preung said his battalion of 40 men was hit from three sides and forced into the river. They retreated by fishing boats to the west bank. He said four of his men were killed and about 20 wounded, but he claimed they killed at least 30 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese now have the upper hand along much of the Mekong where it courses down through eastern Cambodia. The only government stronghold left between Mouk Khampoul and the Laotian border is at Tonle Bet and Kompong Cham, 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

This new pressure on Phnom Penh from the northeast was coupled with reports that two North Vietnamese regiments were establishing positions around Prey Veng, a provincial capital 31 miles east of the national capital, for what may be a major attack. An attack on Prey Veng could be the prelude to the drive on Phnom Penh which military sources in the Cambodian capital expect.

South Vietnamese forces in Cambodia reported three clashes—two near the border south-east of Kompong Cham and one near Takeo—in which a total of 37 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and four South Vietnamese were killed. The U.S. Command reported three Amer-

Tonkin Repeal Introduced in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate debate over Cambodia has taken an unexpected turn with a Republican move to take over an issue dear to the hearts of antiwar Democrats—repeal of the Tonkin Gulf resolution.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., introduced the repeal late Monday, conceding it was an effort to seize the initiative for the White House, which has suffered several defeats in the month and a half of debate.

The Tonkin Gulf resolution, passed overwhelmingly in 1964, was used by President Lyndon B. Johnson as the basis for the massive U.S. intervention in Vietnam.

It has since been the object of criticism by the antiwar elements in the Senate, but not all the doves welcomed Dole's move.

"I do not favor the approach the senator from Kansas is taking," said Sen. J. W. Fulbright. "I think it is untimely and inappropriate. But I do favor repeal of Tonkin."

Charges Dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Army dropped charges today against a general and two other officers who were accused last March of attempting to cover up details of the alleged My Lai massacre.

Cleared were Brig. Gen. George H. Young Jr., of Pine Bluff, Ark., Col. Nels A. Parson Jr., of Toledo, Ohio, and Maj. Robert W. McKnight of San Diego, Calif.

Today's action was taken by Lt. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commander of the 1st Army at Ft. Meade, Md., who said court martial charges were "unsupported by the evidence."

They were among 14 officers accused in March.

At the time of the alleged massacre, Young was assistant commander of the Americal Division, Parson was the division's chief of staff, and McKnight was operations officer of the 11th Brigade, a unit in the division.

The Arkansas Democrat said Dole, a freshman, "hasn't been here very long and has no feeling for the committee system. You just don't override usual, established customs."

In the heated floor exchange that followed, Dole said, "I didn't know you can't offer an amendment on the floor without approval of the senator from Arkansas or someone who has been here longer than me."

Fulbright lost the first round to Dole when his motion to table the repeal amendment failed 67 to 15.

The Foreign Relations Committee already has approved a separate resolution repealing Tonkin.

But antiwar senators had hoped to use the resolution as a vehicle for prolonged debate on Nixon's Southeast Asia policy—once the current debate on Cambodia is out of the way.

The Dole amendment is designed to head this off as well as to give the President a chance to take positive action and sign a bill that includes a Tonkin repeal.

The President has said he doesn't need the Tonkin Gulf resolution to back up use of troops in Southeast Asia. But he wouldn't get a chance to show it with the Foreign Relations Committee proposal, which does not require presidential signature.

In the only other vote Monday, the Senate approved 73 to 5 the addition of new language to the proposed Cooper-Church amendment to curb future U.S. operations in Cambodia. But the over-all significance of the action was unclear.

Adopted was an amendment by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., saying Cooper-Church is not intended to restrict the President in the use of his constitutional powers as commander-in-chief to protect U.S. forces in Vietnam.

Fulbright, one of the five to vote against the amendment, said he did not think it made any substantive change in Cooper-Church but he was afraid a vote for the amendment would be interpreted as an easing of his bitter opposition to the invasion of Cambodia.

Statewide Primary Day, Goldberg, Samuels Close

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — About a million Democrats were expected to turn out for today's statewide primary election to decide the course of Arthur J. Goldberg's first bid for elective office—the governorship of New York.

Goldberg, the former U.S. Supreme Court justice, was rated the favorite in a closer-than-expected contest with millionaire industrialist Howard J. Samuels for the party's gubernatorial nomination.

The winner will take on Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who will be seeking a fourth term in the November election. Rockefeller and other members of his GOP state ticket had no primary challengers.

By contrast, the Democrats battled fiercely among themselves over four of the five places on their ticket—including the U.S. Senate nomination in eventual opposition to freshman Republican Charles E. Goodell.

Theodore C. Sorensen, who served the late President John

F. Kennedy as a speechwriter, was rated a co-favorite with U.S. Rep. Richard L. Ottinger in the Senate race.

New York State will have 19 primary battles today in 16 congressional districts. Story on page 2.

There was considerable sentiment also for former New York City councilman Paul O'Dwyer, upset winner of the 1968 Senate primary. A fourth contender, U.S. Rep. Richard Max McCarthy, was a long shot.

An added highlight of the primary was the attempt of Harlem's State Sen. Basil A. Paterson to become the first black man to gain the lieutenant governor's nomination.

Paterson had the full support of Goldberg. Samuels said he also preferred Paterson over his white opponent, Jeromo Ambro, a town supervisor from Long Island.

The other statewide nomination at stake was for attorney general. Adam Walinsky, an aide to the late U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was thought to be leading Rockland County's District Attorney Robert Meehan.

Balloting hours were noon to 9 p.m. in all parts of the state except New York City, where the polling hours were 3 p.m. to 10 p.m.

By state law, public sale of alcoholic beverages is forbidden while the polls are open.

Although 3.5 million Democrats were eligible to vote in the primary, party leaders expected a turnout no larger than 30 per cent and perhaps as small as 20 per cent.

These estimates were based on the experience of the 1968 primary, the first since the state abandoned its old nominating convention system. Only 22 per cent of the party enrollment turned out in 1968. Some improvement was anticipated because the governorship is in-

Dutchess Man Arrested on Check Charges

RED HOOK

A 40-year-old Dutchess County public accountant firm executive was arrested Monday by Rhinebeck State Police BCI on charges of issuing fraudulent checks in the total amount of $15,000.

Herman Bernstein of 17 Walnut Hill, Poughkeepsie, was taken into custody by Investigator Frank Hallock after a lengthy investigation. Bernstein was arraigned before Red Hook Town Justice Alfred Trezza. He entered a plea of innocent and hearing was adjourned until July 1.

In lieu of $4,500 bail, Bernstein was committed to the Dutchess County Jail in Poughkeepsie.

According to State Police, Bernstein allegedly issued three checks in the amount of $5,000 each to the Jomar Tractor Co. in Red Hook, last November. Authorities said the checks were returned by the bank stamped "insufficient funds."

Firemen Plan 'Biggest Fourth'

KINGSTON

The Kingston Paid Firefighters Benevolent Association is completing plans for the biggest and best Fourth of July celebration ever presented locally.

Highlighting the evening's entertainment at Dietz Stadium will be the largest and most colorful display of aerial fireworks ever seen in the Hudson Valley. This year will mark the 14th annual Independence Day celebration sponsored by the Kingston Paid Fire Fighters.

Gates will open 6 p.m. with entertainment at 8 p.m. and fireworks at dusk.

were realigned by the state legislature this year.

Reapportionment caused one intra-party primary — between incumbent Democratic Reps. Jacob H. Gilbert and James H. Scheuer in the 22nd Congressional District of the Bronx. Scheuer currently represents the 21st district of the Bronx, which has been changed to include portions of New York and Queens.

In the new 21st, there is a six-man Democratic primary which includes Herman Badillo, former Bronx borough president.

The district with the largest number of primary candidates is the 25th, composed of the counties of Westchester and Rockland. There are four Republicans and three Democrats who want to run in November for the seat being vacated by Rep. Richard L. Ottinger, a candidate for the U. S. Senate designation in the statewide Democratic primary.

Update, there are five primary contests: Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski faces the Rev. Hugh Carmichael in the Democratic primary for the 41st district in Erie County.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, whose Amsterdam home is now in the 29th district, passed up a chance to run for re-election from the 35th district. He is challenged in the Democratic primary by Edward A. Fox of Niskayuna.

In the new 35th district of Onondaga, Chenango, Madison and Cortland counties, Rep. James M. Hanley and Harvey Bates, both of Syracuse, meet in the Democratic contest.

Hanley's old 34th district features a Republican primary between John Terry and Clarence Kadys, both Syracuse residents.

The fifth upstate primary involves Rep. Martin McKneally of Newburgh and Russell X. Lahey of Port Jervis on the Conservative line. McKneally is unchallenged as a Republican.

The incumbent facing the greatest number of challengers is Adam Clayton Powell. There are four challengers to the veteran Democrat, who had hinted earlier this year that he would retire, but then surprised an eager slate of congressional hopefuls by running.

Murder Suspect Transferred From Hospital to County Jail

KINGSTON — Rodney Arnold, 29, of Kerhonkson, who is accused of the murder of 31-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Blaustein of Allgerville, was transferred Monday from Kingston Hospital to the Ulster County Jail pending a hearing.

Bus Trip Planned For Sr. Citizens

KINGSTON

The Kingston Recreation Commission will run a bus trip for the Senior Citizens of Kingston to Saratoga Springs, N. Y. on Tuesday, June 30.

The bus will leave Kingston at 8:30 a. m. and will return at 6 p. m. Reservations for the trip will be accepted by calling the recreation office at 331-1682 on Thursday and Friday of this week between the hours of 9:30 a. m. and 4 p. m.

the fatal shooting that occurred on the morning of June 1 on a lonely section of Route 209 near Kyserike Road in Accord.

Arnold has recovered from a bullet wound of the head which State Police said was inflicted. The hearing date of the murder count has not been definitely fixed, by Town of Rochester Justice Harold Lipton, according to Ellenville State Police.

Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser had reported after an autopsy that Mrs. Blaustein, mother of three and legally separated from her husband, died of massive hemorrhages due to lacerations of the liver.

The original arraignment at the bedside of Arnold at the hospital was presided over by City Judge Hubert A. Richter, who entered a plea of innocent for the accused man. Arnold requested the assignment of counsel and Francis Martocci was named by Richter.

Council Slates Hearing

By HUGH REYNOLDS KINGSTON

The Laws and Rules Committee of the Common Council will hold a public hearing Wednesday night at 8:30 in the Council Chambers at city hall on a request to rezone a parcel of land of Fairview Avenue for the construction of garden-type apartments and an ordinance requiring fences around swimming pools.

Donald E. Quirk (D-Sixth Ward), chairman of the committee which also includes Peter Mancuso (D-12th Ward), John Heitzman (D-First Ward), Titus Sims (R-13th Ward) and Brian Smith (R-Third Ward), termed the proposed swimming pool ordinance a major issue that could affect numerous persons in the city.

The ordinance would require that any swimming pool regardless of size with a depth of more than two feet of water be fenced off. "It's basically a safety measure," Quirk told The Freeman today. "There have been instances in other cities where young children have drowned by falling into swimming pools that were not fenced."

Louis J. Hess of New Jersey is asking the Council to approve the rezoning of an eight-acre tract of land known as the Wilbur Tract from its present R-1 (residential) to R-6 (multiple housing).

This will be the third time around for Hess. He submitted the proposal in August of 1967 but withdrew it after opposition from residents in the Fairview-Meritt Avenue section of the old 12th Ward.

Hess resubmitted the proposal in December of that year and it was approved by the Common Council 10-2 early in 1968.

Hess resubmitted the proposal in December of that year and it was approved by the Common Council 10-2 early in 1968.

Residents of the area then took the city to court and were successful in having the Council's action ruled illegal.

It is expected that Attorney Joseph D. Saccoman will represent Hess at Wednesday's public hearing.

Apollo 13 Switches—Penalties Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency probably won't penalize the two aerospace firms that allowed inadequate switches to be placed on the Apollo 13 oxygen tank which exploded en route to the moon.

The contract with North American Rockwell, the firm that received more than $1 billion for all the Apollo command and service modules, doesn't contain a penalty clause. It is a cost-plus fixed fee contract and most of it has been paid.

Apollo 13 was nearing the moon April 13 when one of its two oxygen tanks blew up, knocking out all spacecraft power. Astronauts James A. Lovell Jr., Fred W. Haise Jr., and John L. Swigert Jr., limped home using propulsion and life-support systems of their lunar lander.

But the $375 million mission to land on the highlands of the moon was a failure.

The Apollo 13 review board blamed North American Rockwell, the Beech Aircraft Corp., and the space agency itself for "an unusual combination of mistakes, coupled with a somewhat deficient and unforgiving design."

It said the tank—built under subcontract by Beech—had inadequate protective switches, a loose fill tube and was inadequately tested. "It was a serious oversight in which all parties shared," the report said.

Since the Jan. 27, 1967, launch pad fire that cost the lives of three astronauts on Apollo 1, the contractors have received a fee of 5 to 6 per cent over cost, plus an additional award fee feature amounting to one half of one per cent.

That award fee remains to be paid for Apollo 13, but a determination of whether this will be withheld won't be made until next year when the fee board meets. The exact amount to be paid isn't available, but NASA spokesman Julian Scheer says it won't be more than $500,000.

North American Rockwell has six more Apollo spacecraft ready for the space agency, but the award fee won't apply to them, so there is even less provision for penalty should any fault be traceable to the manufacturer.

North American had been working on an incentive contract at the time of the Apollo 1 fire, and its fees were reduced by $15 million because of that accident. Additionally, the firm spent millions of dollars for subsequent improvements on the redesigned spacecraft.

The Apollo 13 review board report was one of three going to NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine, who then will decide what changes must be made in the spacecraft before the next launching. The launch date for Apollo 14 already has been set back by two months, until Dec. 3, in anticipation of changes.

At the end of this week, Paine will receive reports from the Office of Manned Space Flight and from the Aerospace Safety Advisory Panel. He is expected to testify before the Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee next week on the findings.

Creditors Attacked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A consumer advocate says creditors often use harsh tactics "not merely to collect bad debts, but also to intimidate debtors and keep them in line when they have valid defenses."

David Caplovitz, joined by Ralph Nader and other witnesses, before the National Commission on Consumer Finance Monday, also described other collection practices he said were especially hard on the poor and undereducated.

Under particular attack were garnishment of wages, telephone threats, failure to deliver court summonses, and small claims courts.

Caplovitz said garnishment of up to 50 per cent of an employee's wages is allowed in some states. Even the threat of garnishment is enough for some employers to fire a worker rather than go through the expense of changing a computer-controlled payroll, he told the commission.

But the most serious flaw of garnishment, Caplovitz said, "is that it provides the creditor with a powerful club for forcing the debtor to resume payments even when he has legitimate defenses."

"Some 44 per cent of the default-debtors we interviewed reported that their employers had been contacted by their creditors and warned about garnishment proceedings if the debt were not settled."

"These prejudgment communications between creditor and employer raise a variety of legal issues, ranging from unfair coercion and denial of due process to invasion of privacy," he said.

Many Disappointed Towns

Census Complaints Pour in

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau has been hit with an unprecedented volume of complaints for disappointed towns who think the official government nose count cheated them.

But the bureau maintains its results are accurate. Shifting population and unnoticed economic changes are the reasons the local estimates are off, it says.

In Kingston where a population loss of 4,000 has been reported, Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-28th District) has formally requested a "missed persons" count for Kingston. Mayor Francis R. Koenig has also asked for a recount charging the census was incomplete in the city.

In some cases the Census figures, which are preliminary and complete only in some areas, are embarrassing because the city fathers or booster groups have used higher ones in promotion.

In others, however, population determines how much money the city receives from state or federal governments and lower-than-expected figures can mean real financial readjustment.

"We have found no case where the figures were even significantly off," Census official Paul A. Squires said, although he conceded rechecks "turn up a few missed households."

But he said complaints are higher than in 1960 because the bureau admitted it missed 5 million people that year, thus encouraging local officials to question figures this time.

Squires said most of the complaints come from areas where the forms went out by mail but were to be held for an enumerator to pick up.

"At least hundreds of these, and perhaps thousands, are still out there" because the people were not at home and the enumerators got the basic population information from their neighbors, Squires said.

Investigations have shown this to be the case in 97 or 98 per cent of the cases, he said, although the forms lying uncollected in homes do "stimulate this feeling of undercount."

But despite the complaints, ranging from mild questioning to a warning that "they're going to be sorry they released those figures," Squires maintained the bureau is "not in the least bit disturbed."

If he is not, dozens of local officials canvassed in a national Associated Press survey are.

The returns are not in yet from the major metropolitan areas or from California, the most populous state by recent estimates. But overall, the bureau expects to find the nation has something over 204 million people, about 25 million more than the 1960 head count showed.

The Constitution requires a census every 10 years, and one of its major uses is deciding how many members each state can send to the House of Representatives.

On the local level, however, the concern is over such things as the distribution of state school money or the classifications of towns.

The Census Bureau says it investigates every complaint, although some have been dropped when district or regional Census directors said city officials would have to show hard evidence people had been missed before anything could be done.

But the complaints persist. A typical objection came from James Kelley, city planner of Omaha, Neb., which had a population of 301,598 in 1960.

The Census found 327,895 people this year, but the city had estimated 405,125. Kelley said, "Those federal figures are too unrealistic for me to even comprehend. There is just no way they can be right."

Census is a fighting word to many mayors in Louisiana, where cities receive about $5 per person each year from the state tobacco tax.

Charles Ware, administrative assistant to the mayor of Lake Charles in Southern Louisiana, said the city had estimated a population of 84,911, but the Census totaled only 76,577.

"It would be worth it to us to spend $30,000 to $40,000 to pay for a recount because if this census figure stands it will cost as a substantial sum," Ware said.

He attributed the federal count to three factors: Instructions to hold Census forms for enumerators rather than mail them back, the tendency of many people, especially blacks, to shy away from anything official, and "a resentment on the part of some people about the 'prying' federal government, including some nuts who fly into a rage over being asked how many commodities they have."

Several local officials contacted in the survey said population figures did not square with growth in housing and utility connections.

City Manager Charles R. Kelley of Ogden, Utah, said his city's Census total of 68,480 is about 10,000 too low. He has city offices compiling building permit figures and other statistics "so I can go to the Census Bureau with something to stand on."

And in Portland, Maine, the Census count dropped 8,262 between 1960 and 1970, leaving city officials "slightly puzzled" because of an increase in dwelling units, a low vacancy rate and a rise in school enrollment.

The reason for these is usually the same, Squires, the Census official, said.

Area GOPers for Rocky

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON
Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has called on a number of well-known local Republicans to help him in his bid for a fourth term in Albany.

Former State Senator from Catskill Lloyd Newcombe, is the seven-county coordinator for the Independent Committee for the Election of Gov. Rockefeller. Newcombe is in charge of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene, Sullivan, Delaware and Otsego Counties.

Newcombe announced today that former Alderman Raymond Armater will be Rockefeller's Ulster County coordinator. "I'm delighted that Ray (Armater) has accepted this position," Newcombe said. "We've worked together many times in the past (Newcombe's campaigns, H. Clark Bell's 1968 Assembly run). He's extremely knowledgeable and will prove a tremendous asset to Gov. Rockefeller's campaign."

Peter McGinness, a Poughkeepsie attorney, will coordinate Rockefeller's campaign in Dutchess County.

Other members of Newcombe's campaign team for the governor include Nelson G. Burhans, corporate secretary for Amos Post Inc. of Catskill, local oil firm headed by Newcombe and Mrs. Frank Matthews of Kingston. Mrs. Matthews is Newcombe's assistant.

Armater announced today that he has named former Kingston Police Chief Robert F. Murphy as the city coordinator for Gov. Rockefeller. Armater said that a campaign headquarters for Rockefeller will be opened in Kingston within two weeks.

Newcombe was a state senator for one term (1964-66) but was defeated in a primary with Ogden Bush when their districts were combined by reapportionment.

Newcombe has been active for many years in various civic organizations in Greene County including the Chamber of Commerce and the Catskill School board where he served for nine years.

He was appointed by Gov. Rockefeller to the Council of the State University College at New Paltz last August.

Armater served two terms in the Common Council from the old 11th Ward. He was city coordinator for Assemblyman Bell in his 1968 election. Newcombe emphasized that the Election of Gov. Rockefeller was a separate from but a "working parallel" with the various county and city Republican committees.

$300 Discrimination Claim Paid by Rochester Man

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A Rochester man, threatened with sale of a building he owns to collect a $300 discrimination claim, has paid the money, it was revealed Monday.

The State Commission for Human Rights ordered the two-family apartment building sold at public auction to pay the claim after, it said, the owner ignored other attempts to collect the fine.

Mrs. Margaret Lee of Rochester was awarded the $300 following a hearing at which she said Hyrory Tryhula, the owner, refused to rent her the apartment for $120 a month. Mrs. Lee, a Negro, said Tryhula later leased the apartment to a white couple for $110 a month.

Tryhula, a 68-year-old Ukrainian immigrant, blamed the incident on a misunderstanding of his poor English. He denied discriminating against Mrs. Lee and said he had leased the apartment to other black families in the past.

The forced sale would have been the first in the Human Rights Division's 25-year history.

Rightwingers Floor Kunstler in Toronto Date

TORONTO (UPI) — William Kunstler, the trial lawyer for the Chicago Seven, was beaten and knocked down by a group of rightwingers Monday night when he tried to deliver a speech. He apparently was not seriously hurt.

Kunstler, 51, his lip bleeding and his eyes watering, continued with his address, calling for "all leftist organizations to unite. If we stick together we can have a meeting, we can have a movement, and we can have a world."

Kunstler arrived in Toronto late Monday afternoon from

New York, and left after his speech. He was permitted out of the United States for one day after posting $15,000 bond. He is appealing his four-year, 13-day prison term on contempt of court charges arising from the trial of seven persons in Chicago accused of conspiring to riot at the 1968 Democratic National Convention. Kunstler was their attorney.

As he began his speech to a crowd of 1,000 in Convocation Hall, Kunstler was drowned out by the shouts of about 30 members of the rightist Edmund Burke Society.

Blocked in his attempts to speak, Kunstler invited the group to send a representative to speak on the stage. The group's Toronto leader, Paul Fromm, took the stage, and Kunstler offered him a glass of water. Fromm dumped the water into a pitcher, splashing Kunstler. The lawyer retaliated by turning the pitcher over Fromm's head.

The Burke leader began to leave the stage, but about 30 of his supporters, lead by a large man, rushed the stage, beating Kunstler until he was knocked off his feet.

As he fell, some members of the audience rushed to his aid. They cleared the attackers from the stage and Kunstler, rumpled, bleeding slightly, and with tears in his eyes, continued.

Later, when the rightists again began shouting and waving their signs, they were forcibly escorted from the hall by the same group of people. Police remained outside the hall.

New Charter--Sept. 1 Action

KINGSTON
Ulster County's proposed new charter will have to be voted on by the County Legislature prior to Sept. 1 if the measure is to go before the voters of the county in next November's election.

The document, just completed after about three years work by the Charter Commission under the chairmanship of Ward Ingalsbe Jr., has already been sent to the Legislature for its consideration and Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago and Ingalsbe are presently arranging a joint meeting of their organizations in order that the Legislature may obtain a briefing and ask any questions with regard to the proposal.

As it stands today, the new charter calls for a county executive form of government.

To become effective it must be approved by the voters of the City of Kingston considered as one unit and by the voters outside the city, considered as one unit.

According to state law, the charter must set forth the structure of the county government, provide for an elective legislative body to determine county policy and exercise powers of local legislation and prescribe the agencies and officers responsible for the performance of the functions, powers and duties of the county. It must also provide the manner of election or appointment, terms of office and removal of county officer and require equalization of real property taxes consistent with standards prescribed by the Legislature.

Hearing in Rifton On Water District

RIFTON
An informational meeting on the formation of a water district in the Rifton area which may precipitate positive action will be held Wednesday 7:30 p.m. at Rifton Fiehouse.

Brinnier and Larios, consulting engineers of Kingston, who have made a cost survey of the proposal will be represented to answer questions about the project.

Esopus Supervisor George H. Freer said he had applied to the Federal Housing Authority for a $41,000 grant for the project expected to cost about $82,000.

The water district if formed would embrace an area including Maple and Pine Streets and a portion of the Post Road in Rifton. About 30 families are involved.

The supervisor said there is a possibility that the proposed water district could be expanded to include adjacent property owners who would want pressurized water from a system supplied by deep wells. The need for a water system was apparent earlier this year when seepage from surface water and septic tanks polluted the wells of several families in that area.

Paltz Ordered To Install New PollutionCurbs

WHITE PLAINS
The Village of New Paltz in Ulster County has been ordered to install additional and supplemental water pollution control facilities by June 1, 1972, Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, State health commissioner, announced today through the Department's White Plains Regional Office.

The order is based on a stipulation signed by William M. Gruner, village attorney, agreeing that sufficient facts exist to warrant such State action. The stipulation ended the need for a public hearing in the case.

Under the consent order, the village must immediately begin construction of such sewage treatment facilities and complete construction of these facilities by June 1, 1972.

State Health Department sanitary engineers said the village discharged inadequately treated sewage into the Wallkill River.

Seven Students Dismissed for Disorder Roles

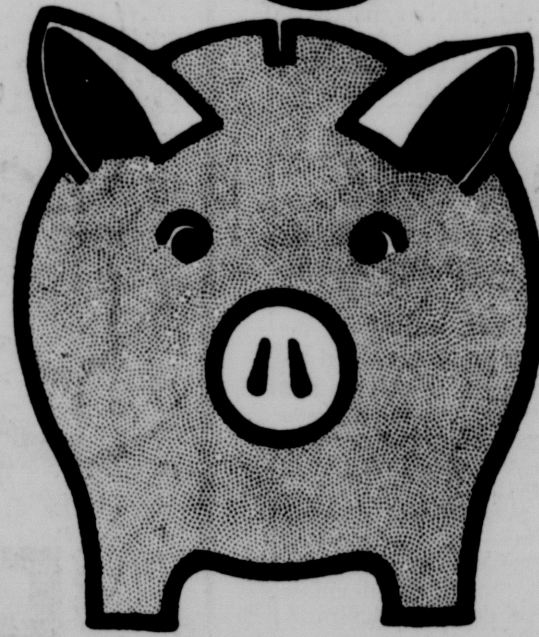

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Seven Pennsylvania State University students have been dismissed and five others suspended for their roles in campus disorders last April.

University President Dr. Eric A. Walker said Monday the action was taken at the recommendation of two of the three members of a special commission, which heard testimony last month involving 39 students.

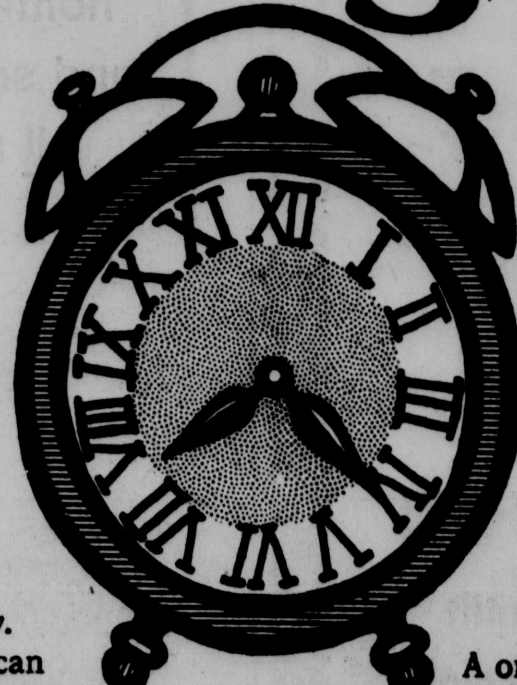

Walker said three of the suspensions were for four ten-week terms and the other two for two terms. He did not release the names of the accused students.

Nineteen other students were placed on probation, which denies them all university privileges except the right to attend classes, Walker said. Two year probationers were given to 16 students, one received one year, and two were placed on probation until they graduate.

Horrors of Prison Detailed

WASHINGTON — Chilling tales from inside the U.S. penal system, disturbingly reminiscent of Nazi Germany's concentration camps, have been recounted to Senate investigators by financier Louis Wolfson.

The "wolf" who shook Wall Street was shut inside a federal prison at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., in April, 1969, for a Securities and Exchange violation. His family foundation's grant to Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas was widely regarded as a "bribe" to keep Wolfson out of jail. He was in disgrace.

The following January, Wolfson came out from what — with his aristocratic tastes — was nine months of hell. He still faces an 18-month sentence on a second charge, now on appeal.

With more black months of prison likely awaiting him, the ruggedly handsome financier's best course was to keep silent about the horrors of the American prison system which brutalizes its 400,000 inmates. If he goes back after all, he will be at the mercy of the very guards he is accusing of sadism.

But Wolfson has decided, instead, to try to stir the nation's conscience while he is free. Not only has he agreed to testify before Senator Tom Dodd's Senate Juvenile Delinquency subcommittee, but he is lining up other ex-prisoners to testify themselves. Some did time in other prisons.

Tale of Terror

One of the "Wolfson witnesses" was at Florida's dread state prison at Raiford. An investigator's official report recounts the ex-prisoner's tale of terror behind bars.

The prisoner, evaluated in the official document as an "excellent witness," tells of three prison officials stomping to death a man named "Alley Cat" Collins.

Another inmate, "Tony" Antone, received treatment in the hospital after a prisoner hit him on the head with a hammer. The witness saw "the removal of the bandages, at which time roaches had to be removed from his skull."

Two asthmatics died allegedly for lack of treatment; an inmate "who suffered from chronic emphysema died after an oxygen tank was deliberately removed"; a man on death row was "deliberately refused prescribed pain-killers after an operation."

A convicted forger for days tried to get treatment for an injured hand, but a medical technician told him, "don't bother me, you Jew bastard — get out of here." Finally, gangrene set in and the man's hand was cut off by surgeons.

The "Main" section of the prison where the report tells of these atrocities was run at the time by Capt. J.E. Edwards, described by the inmate as a "sadistic alcoholic" who gave the good jobs to "sex deviates and homosexuals."

Edwards, reached in Raiford by this column, vehemently denied the charges. He said he was not sadistic, did not favor sex deviates, and drinks only moderately.

Caged Men

The prisoner-witness also charges in the official report that there were "several prisoners in maximum security who were not taken out of their rooms for four or five years, except for an occasional shower." On this and several other questions, Capt. Edwards deferred to prison warden Don R. Hassfurter.

Hassfurter, a reform warden, took over in 1969 from the long-time head of the prison, DeWitt Sinclair, now retired and ailing. Hassfurter said Sinclair's regime was "a little more harsh" than his at the 3,400-inmate institution. But he said he had found "no evidence of brutality" during the Sinclair days. Capt. Edwards, he confirmed, has been transferred from the Main section to a smaller section housing trustees. The subcommittee is investigating the charges.

Wolfson himself has said he will submit to Senate questioning about his experiences in jail. In a 10-page statement, made available to this column, Wolfson gives an inside view of American prison life.

"Mental anguish, mental torture in daily imprisonment and prospects of long confinement are more brutal than physical punishments," he states.

"I have learned from hundreds of inmates that two of the most important things that trigger their hatred and violence toward authority are sentences not being uniform and the parole board's failure to give them reasons why paroles are denied."

He tells bitterly of a woman given 15 years for possession of marijuana while a Mafia man gets off with a few months in jail, and three drug company scientists are given suspended six-month sentences.

Dodd's hearings probably will be put off until August. Then Wolfson and his witnesses will risk the wrath of the prison system which one day may engulf them again in terror.

Women's Liberation

The First Lady may be a secret supporter of the Women's Liberation movement. A women's liberation sign, at least, is displayed in the distaff side of the White House.

"Equal Rights for Women — Write Your Congressman!" reads the sign on an ivory wooden shelf in the graceful, east-wing office of Mrs. Nixon's staff director, Mrs. Constance Stuart.

The freckled, blue-eyed, red-headed Mrs. Stuart was given the sign at a recent White House tea for a national women's rights conference.

Some of the more militant women gripped that tea with the First Lady instead of a talk with the President was typical Establishment condescension. A few of the ladies handed out buttons and bumper stickers with women's liberation slogans. Mrs. Stuart mounted one of them in her office.

Does Pat Nixon agree with the sign? "Of course she does," Mrs. Stuart told this column with a smile. "What can I say?"

A Bill for Errors

The American economy is fundamentally sound, announced President Nixon. But so was the Titanic, except for a bad leak.

The comparison is not inappropriate since the President himself, in his address to the nation on the state of the economy, likened his administration's inflation-curbing maneuvers to bringing a boat into dock. It is a delicate, gingerly operation.

Noted economist Milton Friedman used another simile recently in describing the same process.

"Those who complain that prices are still rising are like the man who believes he should be able to stop a speeding car on a dime — without going through the windshield."

Yet it is sometimes necessary to leave a little rubber on the road if a catastrophe is to be averted.

One slips into the use of metaphors when discussing economics because it is such a slippery subject. For every expert who holds one opinion, there are always two others, equally qualified, who hold a contrary opinion.

Both inflation and recession will turn, around by year's end, thinks Friedman. Already tapering off, inflation will fall to something like a 3 per cent rate by December and to less than a 2 per cent rate by mid-1971, he predicts.

Analysts with the Research Institute of America are not so optimistic. Inflation should average about 6 per cent for this year, they think, the same as last year. "But the outlook for 1971 is not so bad. We anticipate an increase in prices in the range of about 4.5 per cent." This is more than double Friedman's estimate.

Whatever the pace of inflation in the next few months, it is certain that Americans are going to be paying for a long time to come the price of the government's fiscal mismanagement in previous years. A statement issued by the office of the Secretary of the Treasury put it bluntly the other day: "The 'Great Society' of the mid-sixties is now presenting its bill."

It is not the Great Society that is to blame, however, but Vietnam. President Johnson thought he could finance a bully little war out of the Pentagon's petty cash and build a Great Society, too. That miscalculation translated into a staggering $19.1 billion deficit in fiscal 1968, added to total deficits of $31.7 billion over six of the previous seven years.

The first attempted remedy, the 10 per cent income tax surcharge, was dismally too little and too late. Other cures have been as bad as the disease, resulting in rising unemployment, a housing industry that is in a real depression, cutbacks in spending on medical and scientific research and a stock market nosedive that has wiped out all the gains of the '60s—all with continually rising prices and, of course, continuing pressure for pay raises to try to keep up with the prices.

America will pass between the Scylla of inflation on the one hand and the Charybdis of recession on the other, for the ship is fundamentally seaworthy and seems pointing in the right direction. The question is, will we have learned anything from the experience?

Will we have learned that government spending for the proliferating multitude of services we all demand from it must be kept in reasonable balance with government income, at least in boom times? That if we are not willing to pay sooner for the running of the country in one way, we must inevitably pay for it later in other, much more unpleasant ways—as we are paying now?

Poverty a Pollutant

Few people in this land of plenty think of poverty and deprivation as among the most dangerous forms of pollution. Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers, so described poverty to a United Nations symposium on man's environment, held at Onaway, Mich. Woodcock said the elimination of poverty and deprivation must be given high priority.

Woodcock called much of what passes for environmental cleanup in the United States is limited to the "cosmetic approach to beautification: the sweeping of streets, picking up of litter, returning disposable bottles are wholesome pursuits, but do not go to the heart of the matter. "Without a vigorous push for an economy of equal opportunity and distributive justice," Woodcock said, "the chances for environmental sanity may well be lost."

We can agree with all of this, and still ask whether Woodcock and his auto workers, who co-sponsored the symposium, are talking to the American public or to the world public as represented by the United Nations. They must know that the United States economy is the strongest in the world and that it has done more to eliminate poverty and deprivation than any other nation in the world, that the relief allotment to the poor here is unreamed wealth in most other nations. There is much more that can be done here, but he must give credit where credit is due.

David Lawrence Says

Lessons From British Vote

WASHINGTON — The outcome of the British elections may have more meaningful factors for study in anticipating the presidential elections of 1972 in America rather than its congressional elections of 1970.

In the first place, the electorate in England was voting last week for a national administration, while in the elections this year the American people will be voting whether to give majority support in Congress to a President who has found his course obstructed in several ways by the opposition party in actual control of the national legislative body.

Discontent was plainly the major cause of the victory of the conservative party in Britain. Some of the things which produced the dissatisfaction are to be found in the current mood of this country.

Thus the British working class has been disturbed by the high cost of living and high taxes, unemployment is at the highest point in 30 years. Strikes have multiplied, and the conservatives have promised to propose new legislation to curb "industrial anarchy."

Most significant is the racial question. England has about 1.5 million nonwhites, or 2 per cent of the population, but many people not only are objecting to more immigration but they want colored residents to return to their own countries.

Inflation has proved a disturbing development, but the labor government has not satisfied the electorate. The conservatives have promised to tackle the problem.

As for foreign policy, the new prime minister will reverse the labor party policy of withdrawing all British forces east of Suez and will move to strengthen the British pledges originally given to maintain the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. This, of course, will be received with satisfaction by the United States.

Fundamentally, the unsatisfactory economic situation motivated the British voters to seek a change. In a parliamentary election the voters choose a majority which selects a new prime minister. In a congressional and presidential election in America, on the other hand, majority control of both houses of Congress was won by the Democratic party in 1968. President Nixon was left alone to struggle with an opposition party. It has been maintaining a continuous barrage of criticism and has amended or delayed his legislative proposals so as to cause long delays in their consideration. This was not the concept of the founding fathers, who thought that naturally a president would have in every election a majority in Congress from his own party.

While the British system does not permit any such situation to arise, it does have some disadvantages. Thus the changeover is sudden. It happens within a week. In a government as large as that which has grown up in Washington, for instance, it would be impractical to expect such a hasty change to be readily accomplished. But the idea of requiring that a vote for President in a national election be a vote also for the party candidate for Congress has its disadvantages, too, because the people like to have a voice of their own in electing their representatives and Senators.

It seems inevitable that some way will have to be found to make it possible for a President to have a majority of his own party in Congress. In Britain the parliamentary term is five years, but a national election can be held if the party in power is deserted by a segment of its majority in parliament which votes with the minority. An election then can be demanded at any time if a major issue is involved.

Obviously the American system needs reorganization. For the American people in November 1970 — two years after the last election — are going to be asked to vote for or against a party in Congress which the chief executive spokesmen declare has blocked progress and may continue to do so for another two years until the 1972 election. The opposition, of course, feels it has a right to debate the issues on the floor of Congress and try to mobilize more and more of the discontented vote of the country while continuing for two years more to frustrate the administration in power.

Viets Proud in Cambodia

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The major "y-off" in Cambodia may not be in weapons captured or in President Nixon's show of will, but in a strengthening of the confidence of the average South

Vietnamese villager — citizen and militiaman. This reporter's whole experience with a series of guerrilla wars in the past three decades makes clear that once there is a balance of conventional power, where villagers have the will and the courage to face the guerrillas, and if they have even a minimum of arms, no underground can survive. There is a certain magic in attack, and a certain very strong defeatism in being always on the defensive. Very few men can go on for years of only defending against an enemy and never advancing to attack, without being overwhelmed by pessimism. This reporter was on the Cambodian border with a company of South Vietnamese Rangers in 1964, when President Johnson announced air attacks on North Vietnam.

I will never forget the change in the faces of these tough infantrymen as the news came through or the words of their captain.

It has made a real difference to these country people. They bring up Cambodia. They mention what their troops have done there. The enemy is no longer invincible. From all external appearances it has given pride to these people.

Now if this new pride is real, and lasts, and is true in most places in South Vietnam, not just those spots this reporter has reports on, then this is a very significant turning point in the war.

Cigarette Smuggling Racket

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — In a dim Kuwait shop a prosperous businessman slips a roll of money to a local cigarette dealer who nods and quickly stashes it out of sight.

Northward across the searing desert an Arab truck driver toils along, his load of American cigarettes concealed by a layer of vegetables.

At the corner of a bustling Beirut street, a legless cripple produces a pack of filter tips and his regular customer lights up.

All are participants in a multimillion dollar cigarette smuggling racket that grew out of the 1967 Arab-Israeli war and fattened on its aftermath. It embraces seven countries, and its cost to Lebanon alone in lost revenues has been calculated at $6 million a year.

Officials of the state-run

Lebanese tobacco company said that agents of the smuggling ring travel to Kuwait or Saudi Arabia and buy duty-free American cigarettes for about 14 cents a pack. The officials price in Lebanon is 61 cents a pack; but the customer gets his contraband pack for about 46 cents.

Similar prices are charged at dropping points in countries on the route north — Iraq from Kuwait, Jordan and Syria enroute to Lebanon from Saudi Arabia. Recently the smugglers were reported operating in Turkey.

A Lebanese tobacco official explained that the racket began after the 1967 war following a drop in tourism in the Arab countries. "Prices shot up, work became scarcer and unemployment spread. So people looked for money where they could find it," he said.

Student Unrest Tops the Poll

PRINCETON, N. J., June 17 — The appointment of a presidential commission to explore the causes of campus unrest comes at a time when the American people name this as the nation's number one problem.

Even such pressing problems as the Vietnam war, racial strife, the high cost of living and crime have taken a backseat to the problem of campus unrest in the public's thinking. Up to now, campus unrest has not rated any higher than fifth on the list of problems the American people consider the most important. The Vietnam war and racial strife have dominated the list in recent years.

Nine-Member Commission
On June 13 a nine-member commission, to be headed by former Governor of Pennsylvania, William W. Scranton, was named by President Nixon to try to determine the causes and consequences of campus unrest. The commission will recommend ways of assuring peaceful dissent and "help avoid future incidents" of the sort that took four lives at Kent State University this past spring, according to the President.

For the survey reported today, a total of 1509 adults were interviewed in person in more than 300 scientifically selected localities across the nation. Field work was undertaken May 22-25. This question was asked:

What do you think is the most important problem facing this country today?
There are the top problems named:

Most Important Problem Facing Nation?	%
1. Campus unrest	27
2. Vietnam war (including Cambodia)	22
3. Other international problems	14
4. Racial strife	13
5. High cost of living	10
6. Polarization of American people	5
7. Teenage problems/ juvenile delinquency	4
8. Crime and lawlessness	4
9. Drug addiction	3
Others	16
No Opinion	2

*Table adds to more than 100% because of multiple answers.

In the previous survey on most important problems, conducted in January, the Vietnam war was the problem named most often, followed by the high cost of living and racial strife.

Unemployment Rate in May At 4.2 Per Cent

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The unemployment rate in New York reached 4.2 per cent in May, compared with 4.1 per cent in April and 3.4 per cent in May 1969.

The number of persons without jobs totaled 355,000 last month, about 15,000 above the April figure and 75,000 more than in May a year ago, the State Labor Department said Monday.

Employment, however, was the highest for any May on record — 8,085,000. Comparatively, the number of persons employed in the state in April of this year was 8,020,000. In May 1969, it was 8,035,000.

$25,970 for Bus Transit Project

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The city of Hudson, which sponsors Suburban Transit Lines Inc., will receive $25,970 in state emergency maintenance program funds, Governor Rockefeller announced today.

The bus company, which serves 40,000 passengers a year, will use the funds to paint and repair buses and rehabilitate bus and engine cleaning equipment with the money, which is part of the $6 million statewide program.

A hansom cab is a light, two-wheeled covered carriage with the driver's seat elevated behind.

You are invited to attend FREE

ACTUAL FIRST SUMMER SESSION

of the

Dale Carnegie Course

- DATE: WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24
- TIME: 7:00 P.M.
- PLACE: ARNOLD'S 19 RESTAURANT KINGSTON

This session will be working at:
• How to Remember Names
• Developing Self Confidence

WHY WOULD ANYONE WANT TO TAKE THE DALE CARNEGIE COURSE IN THE SUMMER TIME?

Let's think about it.

1. There are no written exercises or studying.
2. It is not continuous; enabling you to go on vacation.
3. The sessions are fun and run informally; you are encouraged to dress comfortably.
4. A summer class does not conflict with bowling, scouting, other courses, church activities, etc.
5. Personal development now means greater productivity when things do get busier.
6. The class will be held on Wednesdays so that it does not threaten long week-ends.
7. Above and beyond everything else, you will have done something that will ensure greater success and happiness in the months and years to come.

JAMES GILFEATHER

Crime Statistics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Crime statistics for the first three months of 1970, as released by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, show increases in almost all crimes for five large upstate cities — Albany, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse and Utica.

Syracuse recorded the greatest increase of the five in the area of murder and non-negligent homicide. The FBI counted six incidents of this nature from January through March of this year compared to one such incident in the comparable 1969 period.

Gilfeather Dies; TV, Film Actor

A Mass of the Resurrection was offered June 3 at St. Michael's Church, New York City for James Gilfeather, 60, of New York City and Binnewater, who died May 30.

Mr. Gilfeather was an actor in TV and motion pictures up until the time of his death.

He had been known on the stage for his pantomime and also appeared in character parts on the screen in such motion pictures as All the Way Home, The Hustler, Requiem for a Heavyweight, If a Man Answers and Come Blow Your Horn.

On TV he made regular appearances in The Defenders, Naked City, Eastside Westside, The Laughmakers, Car 54, The Nurses, Route 66, Young Doctor Malone and the Hallmark Playhouse.

He had a summer home at Binnewater and was well-known in this area. A native of New York City, he was born Aug. 2, 1909 a son of Lena and Patrick Gilfeather.

He had served with the Seabees during World War II. In this area he was a member of Binnewater Fire Company. Surviving are his widow, the former Anne Jenvey. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery in Queens.

Memorial

In loving memory of my dear son, John M. Shane who departed June 23, 1962.

I miss you, son, more than anyone knows,
As each day dawns, the emptiness grows,
The tears in my eyes I can wipe away,
But the ache in my heart will always stay.
The parting was so sudden; I often wonder why,
But, the hardest of all, son, we never said goodbye.

Memorial

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mary Grace Ferlazzo, who passed away five years ago June 23, 1965.

Although from life our mother's gone,
Our love for her still lives on.
The love and guidance that she gave,
Is a precious memory we'll always save.

So many memories time can't erase
There is no one can take her place.
The things she taught we won't forget,
And in our heart she liveth yet.

Loving you always, forgetting you never.
DAUGHTERS, ROSEMARIE, LILLIAN and YOLANDA

ROBERT V. STAPLETON

Ellenville Man Named to Post With State Bar

LAKE PLACID

Ellenville attorney Robert V. Stapleton was installed as a vice president of the New York State Bar Association, representing the Third Judicial District, at Whiteface Inn, Lake Placid, where the 21,000-member Association is holding its summer meeting.

Stapleton, a native of Woodridge, is a graduate of Holy Cross College and St. John's Law School. A former police justice of Woodridge, he has served as a member of the executive committee of Northern Metropolitan Joint Hospital Planning Council and as president of Ellenville Community Hospital. He is a former president of the Ulster County Bar Association and of the Shawangunk Country Club.

Sunday concluded the 1970 summer meeting of the association.

Olive Program On Recreation Starts June 29

OLIVE

The Town of Olive Recreation Program will begin on June 29 and end on Aug. 14 and will be held at the West Shokan Recreation Area and Pool for all children who have had at least one year of regular school.

Playground activities will include Arts and Crafts, baseball, softball, kickball, archery, volleyball, horseshoes, badminton, checkers, ping pong, basketball and croquet. A pet show and an Arts and Crafts show will be planned for the end of the summer and awards will be presented.

Swimming instruction will be held at the West Shokan Pool each day from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 12:30 until 3 p.m. The pool is heated and due to the large number of children expected to participate, Ashokan, Shokan, and Boiceville children will swim in the mornings and Samsonville, Olivebridge and West Shokan will swim in the afternoon. This will be rotated each week.

Children should come to the program prepared with appropriate clothing, lunch, towel, and bathing suit. A pavilion has been built to provide shelter during inclement weather. Buses will take the children to the program in the morning and return them home in the afternoon.

Bus 1 will leave Onteora Mfg. Co. on Route 28 at 9:20 a.m., traveling west to Ashokan, Shokan, Boiceville, 28A to West Shokan Recreation Area. Bus 2 will leave Barringer's Store in Samsonville about 9:20 a.m. traveling to Krumville Corners, Osborne Corner to Olivebridge up Mill Road to Acorn Hill to 28A. The buses will reverse their route, leaving the recreation area at 3 p.m.

The program is under the supervision of director, Wes Kissel; swimming: Ingrid Opsis and Christine Gardiner; Arts and Crafts: Debbie Burger; sports: John Stelcin; and general counselor, Robert Henderson.

No advance registration is required. Questions about canceling the program due to rain can be answered by calling the nearest counselor, or Kissel.

Members of the Olive Youth Commission who helped formulate the Recreation Program are Everett Cook, town board member; Miss Evelyn Long, chairman; Mrs. Arlene Tisch, secretary; Charles Holt; Bradford Kelder; and Robert Davidson.

Seeks Hike in Commuter Fares

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The debt-ridden Penn Central Transportation Co., said Monday it wanted to raise fares approximately 20 per cent for some 80,000 daily commuters in the Philadelphia area.

It asked the Southeastern Pennsylvania Transportation Authority, which partially subsidizes the operation, to join the fare boost request before the state Public Utility Commission.

Under the Penn Central-SEPTA contract the two must agree to any increases.

Penn Central is under reorganization in a federal bankruptcy petition.

The increase would add about $2 million annually to the railroad's revenues on its six commuter lines.

Paltz Leads Other Townships in Rehab Drive

KINGSTON

New Paltz leads all other townships in total amount raised to date in residential portions of the Children's Rehabilitation Center capital fund drive, it was announced today by Willard A. Burke and Melvin Mones, drive co-chairmen.

Over-all total in the drive has reached approximately 60 per cent of the $150,000 needed to complete payment for the new facility operated by United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, Inc., for the treatment of physically handicapped children.

Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt heads the New Paltz solicitation, which has produced $2,954 to date in the residential effort. With industry, finance and professional gifts reported in other divisions of the drive, the New Paltz township has produced well over $4,000.

Other leading township totals for residential solicitation include: Saugerties, $2,262, and Woodstock West Hurley, $1,538. Just getting under way are drives in Esopus, which has produced $755 to date; Kingston city, $691, Hurley, $300, and Marbletown, $140.

In other major solicitation divisions to date, Industry has produced $12,980; Special Gifts, $14,144; Professional, $6,625.

Grand total for the drive, including all other divisions and townships, stands at $77,245.88. The drive will extend into Greene County, whose children also are treated in the Center, but solicitation there is not scheduled until September.

Students Riot In Tokyo as Treaty Protest

TOKYO (UPI) — Radical students hurled fire bombs and fought with riot police for control of key railroad tracks near Tokyo today in demonstrations against Japan's renewal of its security treaty with the United States.

The rail yard riots broke out before dawn as did other demonstrations throughout the nation. By 3 p.m. police had arrested 157 persons, mostly students, throughout Japan, they said. A total of 135 anti-American demonstrators was arrested Monday.

Some passenger and freight trains were halted near Tokyo while police with clubs and aluminum shields battled to drive the students away from the tracks.

There was fighting at a rail station near a suburban U.S. Air Force base and on the busy Yamate commuter line.

Short strikes were called throughout the day today by a score of labor unions, including railway workers who maintain Japanese freight trains used to haul U.S. munitions and other military supplies.

Thousands of workers, students and housewives gathered at dusk in parks around the nation to shout their protests against Japan's military alliance with the United States.

Cyclist Hurt In Hyde Park

HYDE PARK — An accident involving an automobile and a motorcycle resulted in injuries to Kenneth H. Taber, operator of the motorcycle, Monday night on Route 9G in Hyde Park.

Taber, 24, of Crum Elbow Road, Hyde Park, was following an automobile operated by Thomas J. Withey, 21, of 35 Kinderhook Drive, Poughkeepsie, when the auto slowed down. He was unable to stop the motorcycle and collided with the rear of the car.

Taber was treated at St. Francis Hospital for lacerations of the head.

Draft Board Lists Hours

KINGSTON — The draft board office, Local Board 18 and 19, located at 55 Albany Avenue, Kingston, will be closed to the public beginning Wednesday, June 24 through Wednesday, July 8 from 1 to 5 p.m. for administrative purposes.

The office will be open to the public during the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and will resume regular office hours on Thursday, July 9.

UCCAC Given $35,000 Grant

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., today announced a federal grant of $35,000 from the Office of Economic Opportunity for Ulster County Community Action Committee.

Congressman Fish said federal funds were for emergency food and medical service for the underprivileged of Ulster County. The grant is to cover a 17-month program.

City Democrats Meet Thursday

KINGSTON — The Democratic City Committee will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the American Legion Hall, 18 West O'Reilly Street, Kingston.

All City of Kingston Democratic committeemen are urged to attend.

Also invited to attend are all elected Democratic office holders from the City of Kingston.

Jackie Gleason Gets His Divorce

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jackie Gleason and Genevieve, his wife of 34 years, obtained a divorce Monday after a hearing in State Supreme Court.

Gleason had filed for divorce in 1968, a year after the state's divorce laws were liberalized to make two years of legal separation grounds for divorce. They have been legally separated since 1954.

Mrs. Gleason reportedly receives $100,000 a year alimony.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market opened mixed in moderate turnover today.

The financial problems of the Penn Central and profit taking in the wake of last week's sharp climb turned the market softer Monday, and some analysts believed that the pullback may have a little further to go. "The market still is trying to rebuild confidence," one analyst remarked, "and a development like the Penn Central could turn things just a little sour."

Shortly after the opening, the UPI marketwide indicator showed a loss of 0.04 per cent on 400 issues crossing the tape. Of these, 137 retreated and 141 gained.

Witness for Prosecution — Marine Didn't Shoot Any of 16

DA NANG, South Vietnam accused of murdering 16 but fired above them. (UPI) — A prosecution witness Vietnamese women and children said today a 19-year-old Marine did not shoot any of them.

Lance Cpl. Michael S. Krich, 19, of Hanover, Pa., testified before a court-martial he was positive the defendant, Pfc. Thomas R. Boyd Jr., 19, of Evansville, Ind., fired well above the heads of the five women and 11 children.

Boyd was the second of four Marines charged with the killings to come to trial. On Sunday, a seven-man court sentenced Pvt. Michael A. Schwarz, 21, of Weirton, W. Va., to life in prison after convicting him on 12 of 16 counts of premeditated murder.

Krichen, a member of the patrol, was granted immunity after agreeing to testify for the prosecution. He said he came to Vietnam with Boyd in July 1969, and had observed that in combat Boyd was "always the last one to fire."

The military prosecutor, Capt. Charles E. Brown of Alliance, Ohio, said he would show Boyd participated in the "joint criminal transaction." At his own request, Boyd is being tried before a single military judge, Lt. Col. Paul St. Amour of Bedford, Mass.

Louisiana Congressmen Deny Any Wrongdoing

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Two Louisiana Democratic congressmen named but not charged in a proposed grand jury indictment against a Baltimore contractor have denied any wrongdoing in the case.

They are Sen. Russell B. Long and Rep. Hale Boggs.

A federal judge confirmed late Monday parts of news reports describing results of a 17-month grand jury investigation, but upheld the right of the Justice Department to prevent an indictment from being signed.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomas of U.S. District Court issued a summary of the federal grand jury presentation and a Justice Department memorandum stating, "There is insufficient legal basis and supporting evidence to prove the charges made by the grand jury."

The summary noted, "The grand jury does not charge that any improper payment was made to any public official."

The case stems from alleged attempts by Victor Frenkil and his firm, Baltimore Contractors Inc., to obtain government approval of an additional $3 million in cost for an $11.7 million parking garage for the Rayburn Office Building in Washington.

The judge's summary stated that Frenkil and his company were the only defendants named in the case and had cooperated fully with the government in its investigation.

Long, who earlier denied any wrongdoing, said he would have no comment on the presentment.

The Justice Department also was silent.

President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, replied with an emphatic "No" when asked whether the White House had been involved in the decision to keep the grand jury investigation secret.

Judge Thomsen issued the summary after the New York Times, Washington Post and Baltimore Sun had published stories on the presentment.

The news reports had stated that the grand jury presentment mentioned House Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts, former Sen. Daniel Brewster of Maryland and Reps. Samuel Friedland and Clarence D. Long of Maryland, in addition to Long and Boggs.

The judge confirmed that Long and Boggs were mentioned, but his summary made no reference to the others.

Ryan-Stammel Nuptials

Miss Sandra Jeanne Ryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Ryan Jr., 273 West Chestnut Street, Kingston, became the bride of Timothy Mark Stammel, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Stammel, 95 Jerusalem Avenue, Hicksville, on Saturday, June 13 in Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, corner of Wurts and Rogers Street, Kingston.

The Rev. Edward Stammel, father of the bridegroom, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The Rev. David C. Gaise assisted him. Mrs. Carmela DeCamillis, organist, accompanied the congregation who sang traditional wedding selections. Miss Hermine Keyser, soloist, sang selections from "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" and "One Hand, One Heart." Arrangements of white gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an Empire style gown, fashioned with lace sleeves and a divided skirt. A crown of flowers served as her headpiece and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and white sweetheart roses.

Miss Nancy Craigmile of Connecticut served as maid of honor. She wore a blue and pink paisley A-line gown and a matching headband. She carried a fireside bouquet of pink daisies, pink sweetheart roses, baby's breath and English ivy.

The Misses Debra Snyder, Kingston; Candice Stammel, sister of the bridegroom, Hicksville; Christine Maines, cousin of the bride, Buffalo; and Chris Ryan, sister of the bride served as attendants. The A-line gowns were varied in color. They included hot pink, green and pink paisley, yellow, turquoise and yellow paisley. All were styled identically to that of the honor attendant's. The attendants wore matching headbands and carried bouquet of daisies, sweetheart roses, and ivy.

Edward Stammel, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Stephen Ryan brother of the bride; Thomas Stammel, brother of the bridegroom; Robert Lampe, and Robert Saari.

A reception for 150 guests was held in the Assembly Room of Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

For her wedding trip to Montauk, L.I., the bride wore a flowered print sheath dress with white accessories.

The bride finished her freshman year at Concordia Junior College, Brownsville, N.Y. Her husband is a graduate of Concordia Junior College. The couple will continue their studies this September at Concordia College, Seward, Nebraska.

MRS. TIMOTHY MARK STAMMEL

IT WAS A PARTY for engaged girls and it was sponsored by Welcome Wagon on June 16 at the Walnut Grove in Kingston. Approximately 100 guests attended the seminar type program which featured speakers on such topics as wedding outfits, flowers, photography, invitations, fashions, furnishings, receptions and travel. A fashion show was given and guests were treated to wedding cake and punch. Participating in the fashion show were (L-R) Cheryl Hulme, prospective bride; Mrs. Edward Pfeifer, modeling a bride's gown; Jon DiPalma, modeling the bridegroom's outfit; and Mrs. Thyra Taylor. Welcome Wagon Hostess. ## Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Please tell those who have color TVs and who try to adjust them whenever the faces turn a greenish color, to wait until the scene changes before trying to do their adjusting.

It is true that there might be trouble in the set, but it also might be due to the fact that the particular scene was filmed at night.

If the viewers will wait until a daytime scene appears, the greenish glow will usually disappear.

You can also test by flipping channels and comparing faces before calling your qualified repairman.

Juan J. Talamantes

This was written by a highly qualified TV authority, folks, and believe me, he knows what he is talking about. Many is the time I have jumped up from a comfortable chair to adjust the dial only to have to readjust it again when the daylight dawned!

Now just think of the energy Juan is going to save us. Thank you to him for helping us to keep our faces from turning green.

Heloise

Letter of Thought

Dear Heloise:

You know what I'm interested in knowing?

I'd like to know if there are any statistics to show how reliable statistics are and what they are really good for.

Larry C.

Dear Heloise:

We have a camper and travel a lot.

Mom and I decided on an inexpensive way to remember our trips without buying a lot of souvenirs.

Every state we enter, we find a small stone, pretty or odd, whichever suits us at the time.

When we get home we add the stone to our "Rock Jar." This can be any jar suitable, as large or small as you desire. We spray-painted the lid and added a small amount of sand to the bottom of the jar.

This sand came from a beach that we visited.

On the outside of the jar we wrote with a marking pen the abbreviations of each state we collected a stone from.

It doesn't cost us anything, and our souvenirs are always in one place.

It has become an interesting hobby as we are learning the different kinds of rocks and soil in the different states.

And we also know our stone is a true souvenir from the state where we got it.

Terri Underwood

Dear Heloise:

We recently moved into a house, and since my children had no yard when we lived in the apartment, the latest thrill is eating outside.

I have found that one of those large plastic trash bags makes a perfect tablecloth for their small table. I put it on just before I sit them down to eat and take it off when they are done. (This eliminates the possibility of them playing with it.)

They enjoy having their own "grown-up" table, and, as they are 3½ and 19 months, I welcome the spills being outside.

When they're finished eating, I just wipe off the plastic and store it away until next time.

Look Here Homemaker

SALAD DAYS ARE HERE

—Iceberg lettuce, one of the most popular of salad greens, is now especially abundant and reasonably priced at your grocery store. Favorable growing conditions in California and Arizona, our top lettuce-producing states, and a ten per cent increase in acreage, are the factors responsible for the current plentiful situation, says Louise K. Breitung, Extension Home Economist.

Avoid heads which are very hard and lack green color, as these are signs of over-maturity. Such heads sometimes develop discoloration in the center of the leaves and may have a less attractive flavor.

Store lettuce in a moisture-proof wrap or container, separate from other foods if possible. Research indicates other fruits and vegetables emit a gas which may discolor lettuce in an unappealing though harmless way.

Lettuce's key claim to fame is its crisp texture and delicate flavor which complements other foods. Lettuce is also nutritious, supplying valuable amounts of Vitamins A and C, particularly in the outer, greener leaves. While providing next to nothing in calories, lettuce provides desirable cellulose for good digestion.

"EGG-SPLOSION" — Look for better buys on eggs in the coming months. Production is expected to run above a year ago.

Egg size is based on the weight of a dozen eggs. Remember, size and quality are entirely different. The weight per dozen is as follows:

Extra large 27-30 ounces, Large 24-27 ounces, Medium 21-24 ounces, Small 18-21 ounces, and Peewee 18 ounces or less.

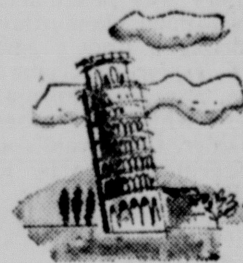

When buying eggs remember:

Buy eggs from a refrigerated case. Refrigerate eggs promptly at home, large end up, to help maintain quality. Temperature changes while the eggs are stored cause egg whites to become thin. Shell color is determined by breed of hen and does not affect grade, nutritive value, flavor, or cooking performance of the egg.

Joan Fontaine Opens Hyde Park Season

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Alan Ayckbourn's play, RELATIVELY SPEAKING is delightful, light comedy. It opened Monday night at Hyde Park Playhouse with movie-dom's top flight star, Joan de Beauvoir de Havilland—Joan Fontaine—in the lead role.

The British production, which packed London's West End houses for two years, is on a pre-Broadway summer run in the Eddie Bracken playhouse at Hyde Park, Maine, Nyack, N. Y., Massachusetts and Connecticut.

As Miss Fontaine stated at a press party last week, "I think we have a wonderful play—just right for the Broadway stage."

RELATIVELY SPEAKING is constructed on an ageless base. It is encased in gossamer humor, has lively, glistering dialogue, and a fine cast of players. It concerns two couples—one young, and one past middle age, but each with one faithful member. A young insurance clerk, played by Neil Hunt, wants to marry Virginia, played by Miranda Fellows. Before she can marry, Virginia must disengage herself from an affair with her employer, Philip, portrayed by Ian Martin. Philip's wife, Joan Fontaine, oblivious of the chain of events, is caught in the middle. Greg, in the meantime, finds Philip's address and is told by Virginia that it's where her parents live.

For the rest of the play, two acts, four scenes, these four characters spin a spider's web of confusion, misunderstanding and near chaos. Greg believes that Philip is Virginia's father and that Sheila, Miss Fontaine, is her mother. Philip, misled by Greg's habitual incoherence, is under the impression that Greg is having an affair with Sheila. So round and round we go.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING is not an easy play for performers. Ayckbourn's lines require extremely careful handling, precision timing and professional acting. It gets this treatment from the Hyde Park cast but in the hands of unseasoned or semi-professional performers, it would hang in here like unleavened bread. Without such polished performers as Joan Fontaine and Ian Martin, I doubt I would even enjoy the play. This type of humor is very difficult to keep bouncing, one heavy footed actor or actress and the production suffers.

Joan Fontaine adds lustre to the production. She is most skilled and talented. She imparts the same charm she did years ago in the films in such outstanding hits as REBECCA and SUSPICION, the latter winning for her the Academy Award.

Ian Martin as Philip deserves plaudits. He is an exceptionally fine actor and his scene with young Philip early in the play is masterfully handled. A writer and actor, Mr. Martin commutes between the theatre in Hyde Park and New York and his home in Westport to keep his many faceted career alive and functioning.

Miranda Fellows, born in London, has always wanted to be on stage. She appeared in the West End production of "Hello Dolly" and "Mr. and Mrs."

Neil Hunt, born in the North Wales Mountains, was in theatre school at the age of eight. Hunt has many TV and stage credits. He has appeared on BBC-TV in several series, CBC in Canada and in the Washington, D. C. Shakespeare Festival as well as on ABC-TV in a documentary play on the life of Gandhi.

When one sees a flowing production such as RELATIVELY SPEAKING, look to the director. In this case it is Ben Janney. Mr. Janney continues his long association with English plays, having previously directed the highly successful coast-to-coast tour of MARAT/de SADE, the Las Vegas Company of IRMA LA DOUCE starring Juliet Prowse, and the National Company of ROMANOFF AND JULIET starring Peter Ustinov. Mr. Janney has also served as production manager of the Broadway companies of such London hits as JOE EGG starring Albert Finney, HADRIAN VII and AFTER THE RAIN, both starring Alec McCowen, THE SLIP SIDE with David McCallum, and THE ENTERTAINER starring Sir Laurence Olivier.

Peter O'Rourke, managing director, welcomed the Hudson Valley audience which filled the Hyde Park Playhouse just past the halfway mark. Attracting audiences to Hyde Park Playhouse has always been jinxed. Let's hope the Eddie Bracken productions will overcome the past audience history at this location. With such a beautiful setting, it is a perfect place for summer theatre.

Next week, Hyde Park Playhouse will present William Shatner of STAR TREK fame. He will be featured in TENDER TRAP. The play will open on Monday, June 29 at 8:30 p.m.

RELATIVELY SPEAKING continues on stage through Saturday with a Wednesday matinee at 2 p.m. There will be two performances on Saturday—6 p.m. and 9 p.m.

JOAN FONTAINE

Country Wife

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

Something very strange seems to be happening to men's clothing, judging by the ads. Nearly all the pictures show the man wearing a garment one or even two sizes too small for him. The pants are too tight, the sleeves are too short, the jackets pull across the chest. Now I know there must be a reason for this. Skillful fashion photographers do not make mistakes.

All by myself I have deduced the cause of this skimpiness. It is to glorify the male form and make every man look like such a powerful fellow that he is about to burst out of his clothes.

At the same time that the male form and make every hair is coming into view, the girls have been disappearing. The bosom is being flattened, the knees are retreating behind hems, and even the "front" is being discreetly veiled by chiffon or lace.

Men must be warned, however, that the bare chest and back are all very well for the young and muscular, the under thirty class, so to speak, but middle-aged men with a paunch are not going to look so pretty.

What a fuss we make about dress anyway. Our cat, Sebastian, is one of the best dressed men I know. He never changes his style; indeed, he never changes his clothes. Yet he smells as sweet as new-mown hay, he looks trim and neat, he is dressed for all seasons.

The animals have the advantage of us in every way. What could be handsomer than the ruff of a lion? When men tried ruffs a few hundred years ago they merely looked as if they had a sore throat. The tiger's stripes beat our modern plaids all hollow. Our neighbor's Golden Retriever's beautiful coat fits him like a glove. When a garment fits us like a glove we bulge.

I forbear to mention the birds. Their decoration is so lavish, so splendid, or even so delicate that it cannot be matched. Oh, well, let's mention them. Was there ever anything more daring than the red strip on the black-bird's wing? The jay, even though his voice is raucous and his appetite insatiable, is a very smart dresser, with blue and grey adroitly blended. The warblers, of every color and variation, are in a class by themselves.

Poor men and women. If we leave our clothes off, most of us look pretty awful, too puffy here, too bony there. Little children, being closer to the animals, can wear their skin agreeably. We have to cover ours up or reveal parts of it, not always too well chosen. We have to fret to think of new areas to cover or new ones to reveal.

I saw a photograph the other day of a fashionably dressed lady in the 1880's. She was sitting up straight because her waist was so tightly laced she could not bend. What animal would dress himself so? How unlucky we are, compared to the animals.

Tongore Garden Club Tea

The Tongore Garden Club will present a Tea Garden for the enjoyment of people who attended the 4-H sponsored "Ye Olde Country Fair" at the Lester Davis Park in West Shokan on June 2.

The Tea Garden under the direction of Mrs. Roy Kahmpke and Mrs. Kendall Every will provide a pleasant oasis of refreshment in the busy fair atmosphere. Club members will furnish a variety of tasty refreshments as well as plants for sale.

ACLD Meeting Features Speaker; Charles Aliberto

The June meeting of the Association of Children with Learning Disabilities will be held recently at The Edson School Library. Charles Aliberto, a Hyde Park physical education instructor, was guest speaker. Mr. Aliberto is to head a summer reading and physical education program for children in K-grades 3 in Hyde Park. This is an experimental program and Mr. Aliberto was asked to report the results to the Association in the fall.

Mr. Aliberto stated that physical education and learning to read are directly related, and children with learning disabilities should be helped in both areas both at home as well as in school.

The next meeting of ACLD is scheduled for September 9, at the Edson School Library, Merlina Avenue, Kingston.

Why Do Most Builders Choose
OIL HEAT for their own homes.....?

Let the Volinos
Tell You Why...

"My home, which I built, in the Hagantown area of Dutchess County, has oil heat, because with oil you get finer, precision-built heating equipment. You enjoy the very best in home comfort — steady, smooth, clean warmth. And there's no safer or more dependable heat. An oil-heated home is worth more and the owner will continue to enjoy lower monthly living costs", says Al Volino, builder. And his wife, Mary, a realtor, will back him up on that!

Quality builders like Al Volino know that a modern, oil heated comfort system is the mark of a fine home. And when you find an oil-heated home, you can rest assured that it was constructed by a builder who could only be satisfied by the highest standards.

If you are planning to buy, build, or remodel this year, be sure to have modern, efficient OIL HEAT.

Summer Art Classes Offered to Children

Children through the age of 12 will have an opportunity this summer to participate in the widely recognized and acclaimed art program of Young People's Studio of Woodstock.

With registration now open for its several small classes specially geared to the needs of individual children, the Studio will begin its July-August schedule on Tuesday, July 7. As always, the Studio's revolving program of art projects is all new.

In keeping with the summertime needs of the community, the Project-Program proceeds, as does registration, on a week to week basis.

Children age through 5 meet Tuesdays, 10:30 a.m. to noon; children age 6 through 8 meet Wednesdays, 9:40 a.m. to noon; and children age 9 through 12 meet Thursdays, 9:40 a.m.-noon. The Studio provides all basic materials, and several outdoor sketch trips are planned.

Young People's Studio is located in the heart of Woodstock, at 3 Tinker Street, at the intersection of Mill Hill Rd. and Rock City Road. Classes are limited to 12 children each and early registration is advised and now being accepted. For further information and tuition fees, please call Mrs. Bruce Dorfman in Woodstock.

Clendenon 11th Hour Hit

By United Press International
Donn Clendenon, who had failed 10 straight times as a pinch-hitter, stroked a three-run homer in the eighth inning Monday to break a 5-5 tie and give the New York Mets a 9-5 victory over Chicago, moving the Mets within two and a half games of the first place Cubs in the National League East.

Cleon Jones and Art Shamsky opened the eighth with singles and New York manager Gil Hodges inserted Clendenon as his pinch-hitter when Hank Aguirre replaced Cub starter Ferguson Jenkins. Clendenon then hit his seventh homer of the season. The victory was the sixth in eight games for the Mets while the Cubs dropped their fourth game in five decisions. Willie Mays slammed two home runs and Dick Dietz and pitcher Rich Robertson added one each as the San Francisco Giants bombed the Cincinnati Reds pitching staff for 17 hits en route to a 13-6 victory. Mays' first home run and doubles by Willie McCovey, Ken Henderson and Dietz gave the Giants three runs in the top of the first off 19-year-old Don Gullett who was making his first major league start. Robertson survived a five run first inning in picking up his fifth victory in eleven decisions. Matty Alou singled home Gene Alley from second with one out in the 10th inning to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 1-0 victory after the St. Louis Cardinals won the first game of the two-night doubleheader 6-1 over rookie Jerry Reuss' nine-hitter. Alley opened the 10th with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice by pinch-hitter Fred Patek. Alou followed with his single and put the Dodgers ahead 3-1.

In the opener, Reuss scattered nine hits in picking up his first win since being called up from Tulsa June 16th. It was his second major league win. West Parker, Bill Sudakis and Bill Grabarkewitz tagged Phil Niekro for homers to power the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 4-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves behind the nine hit pitching of Alan Foster and Jim Brewer. Parker's home run came in the fourth and tied the score at 1-1. Sudakis' four-bagger came in the fifth with Tom Haller on board and put the Dodgers ahead 3-1.

Frank Atoned for Miscue

By United Press International
Frank Robinson, whose first inning error helped Boston explode for six runs, capped a three-run rally in the ninth inning with a two-run single

Monday night that gave the Baltimore Orioles a 9-3 victory over the Red Sox. Robinson, playing first base, bumped into third baseman Brooks Robinson behind the pitchers mound for an error that caused Ken Brett's pop-up to fall in as two unearned runs scored to cap Boston's six-run first inning. Carl Yastrzemski hit a two-run homer off Tom Phoebus to trigger the inning and Gerry Moses drove in the other two runs with a double. The Orioles then won the game with the three-run rally in the ninth. Boog Powell doubled with one out and Merv Rettenmund singled. After Paul Blair doubled Rettenmund to third, Frank Robinson hit his game-winning double to give the Orioles their fifth straight victory. In Milwaukee, Ron Perranoski picked up his 17th save as he set down a Brewer uprising in the ninth and Harmon Killebrew hit his 18th homer to power the Minnesota Twins to a 4-3 victory over Milwaukee. Perranoski came in after Jim Kaat had served up a two-run homer in the ninth to Tommy Harper. He retired the side on a strikeout and two pop-ups. Killebrew's homer, a 370-foot shot to the left field bleachers in the fifth inning, brought home three runs and broke up a 1-1 tie. Pinch-hitter Frank Fernandez's pinch-hit homer in the bottom of the ninth enabled the Oakland A's to squeeze to a 2-1 victory over the Kansas City Royals. The blast came off reliever Tom Burgmeier, who took over for starter Dave Morehead in the seventh inning. It was his fourth loss in five decisions. The victory went to Bob Locker, his first win against one loss, after relieving Oak land's starter Diego Segui in the eighth. Sal Bando hit his 14th homer of the year in the fifth with none on for Oakland's other run and Kansas City knotted the score with an unearned run in the seventh.

Grabarkewitz led off the eighth inning with his seventh homer of the season after Niekro had closed the gap to 3-2 in the bottom of the seventh with his first home run of the year. Don Wilson, Houston's fireballer, had a three-hitter and retired 20 straight batters in his first complete game since last September as the Astros defeated the San Diego Padres 4-1. Wilson, a 25-year-old right-hander with two National League no-hitters to his credit, started his first game in 16 days after fighting off a tendonitis problem and gave up a first inning homer to Clarence Gaston. After Larry Stahl singled in the second and was cut down stealing, Wilson did not allow a baserunner until pinch-hitter Al Ferrara singled in the ninth. Byron Browne doubled home two runs in the sixth to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-2 victory over Montreal and a sweep of a two-night doubleheader after the Phillies won the opener 4-0. Browne, who hit a two-run homer in the first game, doubled to right center after one loss, after relieving Oak land's starter Diego Segui in the eighth. Philadelphia won the opener on Woody Fryman's four-hitter. The veteran southpaw walked the bases full in the first inning then settled down to post his first shutout of the season.

Billie Jean On Stage

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—America's Billie Jean King and Australia's Margaret Court took to the courts today rated even favorites to win the ladies singles title in the 84th Wimbledon tennis tournament.

Both Mrs. King, three time Wimbledon champion, and Mrs. Court, who has won the title twice, had easy opening round matches and an added bonus in that Britain's Ann Jones will not be defending her crown this year.

Mrs. Jones, who defeated Billie Jean in the 1969 final, announced earlier this year she would not defend the title on grounds the pro-British Wimbledon crowds would demand too much of her in winning another rare British victory.

Mrs. King, of Berkeley, Calif., the No. 2 seed, opens against Miss F. Bonicelli of Peru, and Mrs. Court meets countrymate Suzanne Alexander.

The other American seeds opening today are Rosemary Casals, San Francisco, Calif., against Kathy Harter of Seal Beach, Calif., and Judy Heldman, New York, against Australia's Fay Moore.

Other seeds in action are Australia's Karen Krantzcke against Nell Truman of Britain; Britain's Virginia Wade against country mate Sally Holsworth; West Germany's Helga Niessen against Argentina's Mari-Anne Arias; and Kerry Melville of Australia against Janice Twosend of Britain.

In the opening round of men's singles Monday, Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia was the only seed in trouble, fighting back from 2-6, 5-7 down to 6-3, 6-2 before his match against Russia's Alexander Metreveli was called because of darkness.

Top-seeded Rod Laver of Australia, defending his Wimbledon singles crown, overwhelmed American National Amateur champion George Seewagen Jr., of New York 6-2, 6-0, 6-2, with a center court display of all-court power.

Third-seeded Arthur Ashe of Gum Spring, Va., the man many experts figure Laver will have to beat for his third consecutive title, trounced British professional Graham Stilwell, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1, outclassing the Briton with the best backhand in the business.

America's top-ranked Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., the seventh seed, overcame trouble with his service which cost him the first set against Jaime Fillol of Chile to advance to the next round, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Clark Graebner of New York, the ninth seed, brought his big service under control to dispose of Herald Elschenbroich of West Germany, 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 6-1 and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., the 15th seed, advanced when veteran Italian Nicola Pietrangeli returned too late from the World Cup Soccer in Mexico to make the Wimbledon deadline.

Fourth seeded Tony Roche of Australia, the 1968 finalist, overwhelmed Bob Maud of South Africa, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2 and his fifth seeded countryman Ken Rosewall trounced another Australian, C.S. Dibley, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

Australia's No. 2 seed John Newcombe—last year's runner-up—had an easy win over America's eighth-ranked Roy Barth of San Diego, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, and Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., ranked third in the United States but unseeded at Wimbledon, defeated Istvan Gulyas of Hungary, 6-2, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

Sharpe and Lyon Lead Golfers

WOODSTOCK—Mrs. Alex Sharpe, Jr. and Mrs. Percy Lyon combined for a best ball 72 to win first place in the Woodstock Country Club's Women's Member-Member tournament. Mrs. Sharpe had 94 and Mrs. Lyon 96 on their own ball. Fifty percent handicap was used.

Runnersup were Mrs. Floyd DeWitt and Mrs. John Sprague with 74. Third prize for best ball 81 went to Mrs. Joseph Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Charles Lawson Jr.

Mrs. Eugene Gormley and Mrs. Lambert Dean led the nine-hole group, with best ball 35 and 36, respectively.

Mrs. Clare Sheaffer took low puts honors with 14 in the 9-hole event.

George Geanuleas was the winning pitcher, firing a one-hitter as he struck out 14 while walking just two. Randy Fury managed the only single against the Kingston High star. Tom Cole took the loss.

Skipp Lyons drove in two runs for the winners, while Bill Brady, Rich Freese and Geanuleas had two hits apiece. Freese and Geanuleas had doubles, while Brady, the leading RBI man in the County at Kingston High, blasted a booming triple.

Kingston scored three runs in the fifth inning and then iced the tilt with seven more in the bottom of the sixth.

Thiel's Threesome First at Catskill

CATSKILL

Walter Thiel, the professional at the new Rondout Valley Golf, Tennis and Swim Club, returned to his old haunts Monday to score a four-stroke victory in the annual North-eastern New York PGA's Pro-Member tournament at the Catskill Country Club.

A long time pro here at one stage in his career, Thiel teamed with Jerry Hartman and Joe DeSantis for a best ball 28-30-58 total. Thiel had 37-38-75 on his own ball.

The Thiel trio was 8-under par on the front nine and finished 14-under, while host pro, Jerry Laverne paired with Tony Macera and Joe Leggio for a 30-32-62 that tied Glenn Young of Pinehaven and Ray Herring and Lou Leone for runnersup honors.

Alex Gerlak of the Twaalfskill Club, Kingston, another ex-Catskill CC pro, carded a 32-32-64 with John Morrison and Dick Clark. Gerlak posted 39-37-76.

Al Stein, the Glens Falls Country Club pro, led the individual pro scoring with a 2-under-par 70. Stein played the front nine in even par, then ending a three-year suspension.

birded No. 10 and No. 17 for

a 2-under 34 and four-stroke margin over four players tied with 74s.

The list included Jim Hutchins with 37-37-74; Gus Grygiel 36-38-74; Bill Gressnick 37-37-

74 and Ed Bosse of Colonie with 38-36-74.

The pro scores:

Al Stein, Glens Falls, 36-34-70; James Hutchins, Woodstock, 37-37-74; Gus Grygiel, 36-38-74; Bill Gressnick, 37-37-74; Ed Bosse, 36-38-75; James Duval, 36-38-74.

Claude Young, 37-38-75; Walter Thiel, 37-38-75; Mart Czwaikel, 38-37-75; Bob Haggerty Jr., 36-39-75; Alex Gerlak, 39-37-76; Rick Wolcott, 37-39-76.

Jerry Laverne, 36-41-77; Glenn Young, 40-38-78; Stew Smith, Sawyerkill, 36-42-78; John Gaucas, 40-39-79; Larry Ostrander, 40-39-79; Ed Cleary 41-38-79.

Seeking to retain the title they won by 11 strokes when they registered a 36-hole total of 151 at Shaker Ridge last year, the sparkling Stuhler sisters put together 14 pars and four bogeys.

In the net division of the tourney, Mrs. George Woods and Mrs. Jay Dutcher of Mohawk carded a 68 for a one-stroke margin over another Mohawk duo, Mrs. Thomas Getty and Mrs. P. Potts.

In third place were Mrs. Robert Kaufmann and Mrs. J. Ro-senthal of Colonie Country Club.

BATTING — Frank Robinson, Orioles, drove in the tying and winning runs with a bases-loaded ninth-inning double, his third hit, as Baltimore edged Boston 9-8.

PITCHING—Don Wilson, Astros, stopped San Diego on three hits 3-1 and struck out nine in his first start in 16 days.

Friedel Hurls SP 2-1 Win

KINGSTON

Joe Friedel limited Hurley Haven to one run on eight hits to give the Onteora Boosters a 2-1 victory in the City Slow Pitch league. In other games Bloomington Inn bombed Lamoreaux's Mobil 23-4, the Braves defeated the Daily Freeman 10-7 and Kingston Hospital stopped Hucktol 10-9.

Andy Perpetua was the big hitter of the night blasting two home runs and two singles for Bloomington. Arnold and Don Smith each collected four hits to aid Perpetua in the Bloomington bombardment. Bloomington now stands 7-1 in league play.

Frank Allen stroked a triple and double to lead the Braves win over the Daily Freeman.

A Net 71 For Kollns

SCHENECTADY

The Wiltwyck Country Club mother-daughter combination of Mrs. Werner (Charlotte) Kollr and Nancy combined for a best ball 88 Monday in the opening round of the two-day Gail Sykes Best-Ball tournament Monday at the Edison Club.

With their handicap they posted a net 71, three strokes off the pace.

Defending champions Lorri and Sara Stuhler of Amsterdam combined for a 5-over-par 78 to take the first round lead.

The Stuhler sisters, daughters of Antlers Club (Amsterdam) pro Frank Stuhler, fired nines of 41-37 over 5,995-yard, par 37-36-73 layout for a two-stroke lead over the runnerup tandem of Mrs. Allen Sheals of Mohawk and Mrs. Jay Banker of Schuyler Meadows, who finished with an 80.

Seeking to retain the title they won by 11 strokes when they registered a 36-hole total of 151 at Shaker Ridge last year, the sparkling Stuhler sisters put together 14 pars and four bogeys.

Long Drought Is Over for Rankin

HORSHAM, Pa. (AP)—A putting tip from a fellow player helped Mrs. Judy Rankin get her first women's pro-golf victory in two years.

Mrs. Rankin, of Midland, Tex., came from seven strokes back at the start of the final round Monday to win the $25,000 George Washington Golf Classic by a stroke over Sandra Haynie.

Mrs. Rankin shot a final round five under par 34-34—68 for a 54-hole total of 212 over the Hidden Springs Golf and Country Club course. Miss Haynie, who led by a stroke over Judy Kimball starting the last round staggered in with a 38-38—76 while Miss Kimball soared to a 79.

"Putting has been a problem for the last two years," said Mrs. Rankin, who's only other tour victory in eight years came at Corpus Christi, Tex. in 1968.

"After I three-putted three times Friday, Jo Ann Carner suggested that I slow my swing. She said I had a bad tempo, my swing was too short and too quick."

So, I worked on it by putting nothing but 40-footers on the practice green. I three-putted only once today (Monday). I hit the ball well all week, hitting 16 greens in each round. The putting change was the difference."

Lucas, Smith Top Pitchers

By JIM MASSA

KINGSTON
Jeff Lucas and Ray Smith are the top Little League pitchers, while Cliff Lyons and Dickie Burris (also pitchers) lead the hitting department.

New Vista at Hunter

WOODSTOCK In these days of shrinking open space, polluted streams and atmosphere and the desecration of the landscape in general, it is heart warming to learn there are still a few individuals who do not believe that the remaining beauties of nature should be locked up forever.

The following is an account of a magnificent experience by a Woodstock couple at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl. It was authored by Mrs. Edmund C. (Peg) Sherlock, who made the trip with her husband.

It reveals the beauty that abounds in the Hunter Mountain landscape made available to a couple of persons by Orville and Israel Slutsky, owners of the ski resort. Obviously, they didn't want it kept a secret.

Following is the account: Did you ever ride on Belt Parkway in a jeep? Well, we did! And what a ride! It happened to us in late spring at Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl and there was still a large sized patch of snow left on the intermediate slope—believe it or not.

Orville and Israel Slutsky, owners of the Ski Bowl, wanted us to tour the mountain and see the five new trails and two new chair lifts which are in the process of being constructed and which will be ready for the 1970-71 season.

Orville had his chief engineer, Rudy Zidler, drive us around to show and explain what they were doing. Up, up, up we went over rocks and gullies along the trail (Belt Parkway) that goes up the mountain at the very edge and on which only a Jeep can maneuver. Travelling at only about three miles an hour, it took quite a while for us to reach the top.

We stopped along the way—also at the top—to see the new trails. It is amazing to see how they carve a slope out of the forest. What impressed us the most was the angle at which these big machines work—pushing boulders, rocks, dirt, stumps and trees. It seemed to us they would just have to topple down the mountain.

We saw where the new chair lift is being installed on the other side of the mountain and which will be the connecting link between the other lifts. This will provide a means of going up either side of the mountain and down the opposite, a really great feat of engineering.

Zidler took us over to K-27, the slope which only the finest skiers can negotiate. It took our breath away just to look down this run. We asked Rudy if he had ever attempted it and he modestly said he and Karl Plattner had gone straight down at about 60 miles an hour.

When we returned to the lodge, Orville Slutsky was waiting for us. He wanted to take us around the bottom of the mountain to show us where these new trails end. Looking up from the bottom they were truly awesome! Along the way, we saw wild flowers in abundance, gushing unpolluted streams and wild life, including herds of deer.

Because of the foresightedness of these brothers by opening up the woods and mountains and creating means of travel into this wilderness, they have given each and everyone an equal opportunity to see, admire and enjoy the natural beauty and wonders of Mother Nature.

In the final analysis, what good is locking up the wilderness if no one but a few hardy individuals can have access to it.

So, all summer long, the trails are open to hikers and the Hunter Mountain "Sky Ride" provides breathtaking views. If you want to picnic at the top be sure to bring your lunch. Tables and fireplaces are provided.

American Medical Group — Contrasting Views on Abortion

CHICAGO (AP) — One side asserted that abortion is a woman's fundamental right and predicted laws against it would be found unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

The other side argued that unrestricted abortion would be an echo of the population control methods of Nazi Germany.

These dramatically differing views of proposed abortion reform marked a deeply emotional and often bitter debate at the 119th annual convention of the American Medical Association.

The AMA Board of Trustees has recommended that the association's governing body, the House of Delegates, approve a basic change in AMA policy—making abortion subject only to a decision between the woman and her doctor.

The present AMA policy, set in 1967, opposes abortion except for therapeutic reasons and in certain circumstances.

The committee that heard the testimony Monday will make recommendations to the House of Delegates, which will vote on the issue before the end of the convention Thursday.

Opponents of the change referred to easier abortion in such terms as "infanticide, fetuscide, genocide, murder and killing of defenseless babies."

Dr. Vincent J. Collins, chairman of the department of anesthesiology at Cook County Hospital in Chicago, said, "Infanticide is just around the corner."

"From the fetus," he said, "you go to infanticide, then you eliminate the old, you eliminate races. It just opens up the whole Pandora's box of people control."

Dr. Gloria Heffernan of Wilmette, Ill., describing herself as physician, scientist and mother, declared:

"Abortion is a defeatist and a regressive approach. We can rescue astronauts from the moon but we resort to this barbaric procedure."

Referring to legal restrictions on abortion, Dr. Allan C. Barnes, chairman of the department of gynecology and obstetrics at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, said, "There is a strong consensus that such legislation is, indeed, a violation of the woman's constitutional right and we may wake up some day to find all abortion laws invalid."

The National Federation of Catholic Physicians' Guilds said it was unalterably opposed to the proposed change in AMA policy.

"This departure," the federation said, "may place the profession of medicine at the disposal of government in a manner inimical to the proper functioning of the profession as was the case in Nazi Germany."

Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, president of Planned Parenthood—World Population, urged that "abortion be placed in the same category as other health services—a decision between the doctor and his patient."

Cure for Muscular Dystrophy May Be in Vegetable Oil Find

WASHINGTON (AP) — Serendipity—in the form of a scientific accident—has led to a discovery that may help find the cause of crippling muscular dystrophy, so far an incurable disease.

Dr. Ade T. Milhorat, a New York medical researcher, reported to the White House Monday that chemicals derived from vegetable oils have reversed the muscle-disintegrating process in chickens—the first such reversal in any living creature.

Milhorat, however, cautioned against premature hopes the chicken experiments would assure a new treatment for humans.

"We believe," he said in a letter to Mrs. Richard Nixon, "that these observations will lead to a more complete understanding of the cause and nature of muscular dystrophy. We hope, but cannot predict, their role in the treatment of the disease in other species, including man."

But he also told the President's wife the chicken-test results were so promising that human trials of at least some of the compounds are envisioned.

More than 200,000 Americans—mostly young boys—suffer from the disease.

Milhorat, director of the Institute for Muscle Disease, Inc., told a reporter it's possible human trials could begin within a few months—provided the recently-identified, "active principle" chemicals pass rigid safety tests already under way in other experimental animals. And he voiced confidence the chemicals would pass the tests.

Asked why vegetable oils happened to be tested in the first place, Milhorat said some scientists at his institute planned last-ditch tests in chickens of a laboratory-produced compound called "Co-enzyme Q."

The latter material, first reported in 1966 by Dr. Karl Folkers, of Stanford Research Institute, had initially brought about an "apparent improvement" in mice genetically afflicted with muscular dystrophy.

But the initial promise failed to hold up in later mouse tests. Milhorat said, "Before we discarded it completely," he said, scientists decided to try it on dystrophic chickens.

"They asked me: 'What shall we use to dilute it?' and I said, 'Try safflower oil,'" reported Milhorat. He said he had long had a scientific interest in vegetable oils for reasons having nothing to do with muscular dystrophy.

As things turned out, he said, the mixture worked—but it was later found that it was something in the oil itself, and not the chemical it was carrying, that was doing the trick.

He said vegetable oil themselves work, but that certain recently-identified constituents of the oils work even better.

Milhorat presented his report Monday to Mrs. Spiro T. Agnew, the wife of the vice president, for transmittal to Mrs. Nixon who is honorary chairman of Muscular Dystrophy Association of America. The latter is a voluntary health organization providing most of the support for research against the puzzling disease.

Of Unknown Origin

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Did Union College's founders originate 174 years ago the school's French motto or did they quote the saying from some source.

Samuel B. Fortenbaugh, Jr., chairman of Union's Board of Trustees has offered a 50 franc (about $10) award for any University student in France who can come up with the answer.

The motto reads: "Sous les lois de Minerve nous devenons tous freres" — which is translated as "Under the laws of Minerva we all become brothers." Minerva was the Roman Goddess of wisdom.

Court Upholds Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court let stand Monday a 1967 deportation order against Carlo Gambino, 67-year-old reputed "boss of all bosses" of the six Mafia families in the New York-New Jersey area.

Gambino argued he could not be deported because he went to Canada in 1935 to apply for an immigrant visa and returned to the United States the same day.

Even though the visa was refused, Gambino said the trip "wiped the slate clean."

The deportation order was based on his illegal entry in 1921 at Norfolk, Va., as a stowaway from his native Palermo, Sicily. Proceeding was begun in 1957 following a meeting of Mafia leaders in Apalachin, N.Y., which he attended.

Last March Gambino was arrested by FBI agents in Brooklyn and charged with conspiracy to hijack an armored car of the United States Truck Corp. with $3 million to $5 million in cash belonging to the Chase Manhattan Bank. He is free on $75,000 bail.

Gambino is in poor health. He has a severe heart condition and diabetes.

He was arrested several times in the 1930s but his only conviction was in 1941 for the operation of an illegal still. He was sentenced to 30 days.

The government, in opposing the appeal, told the court Gambino was the subject of electronic surveillance in parts of 1962, 1963, and 1964. During that period Gambino was responding to government questionnaires, but the Justice Department said the surveillance was not conducted by the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the "bugging" had no connection with the deportation proceedings.

The court made no comment in declining unanimously to hear Gambino. The deportation order was upheld last January by the U.S. Circuit Court in New York City.

Dear Abby

'Worst Housekeeper'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune
S. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Re the mother of "the world's worst housekeeper." I am married to a doctor and we have several rather untidy children. I have help in twice a week which keeps me two steps ahead of the health department. But we are a happy family.

This wasn't always the case. At one time I was in a constant state of turmoil worrying about my poor housekeeping. I finally consulted a psychiatrist friend and it took me a year to untangle some of the "knots" I had been tying.

I know it's popular to blame one's mother for everything, but in this case it was my mother's fault. My messy home was a form of rebellion to the way I was brought up. Mother had a fetish about housekeeping, and when I was young she would never let me do anything to help her. Then, no matter what I did, I couldn't please her, so I grew up with a feeling of great inadequacy in the housekeeping department.

Your suggestion of the "mother-daughter talk" won't help much. I think the answer is to substitute praise for criticism, which, in my case, even at this late date works like a charm. If the world's worst housekeeper does just one thing right, praise her to the skies.

Don't mention my address because my mother would know instantly who I am and I wouldn't want to hurt her. In spite of her failure in this department she more than makes up for it in others. Sign me...

UNTIDY BUT UNTIED

DEAR ABBY: Here is an open letter to the mother who described her daughter as the "World's Worst Housekeeper." You are not alone. There are many of us. And believe me, talk will do no good.

Your daughter (as well as ours) sees what is before her eyes. After many years I have learned that most casual housekeepers have sweet and loving dispositions, and for this their husbands and children love them.

I've always said, "Show me a meticulous housekeeper, and I'll show you a nervous wreck."

ANOTHER MOTHER:
RENO, NEVADA

DEAR ABBY: You advised that mother who complained because her daughter was a poor housekeeper to "talk to her daughter." What for? In the first place, if the husband isn't complaining, what business is it of the mother's? And in the second place, what would it do? That mother is probably one of those persnickiness housekeepers who drives a man to drink with her insistence that everything be spotless.

I am not a very good housekeeper. In fact, I am a very poor one. I wash when I have to, sew a seam when I have to, and I clean house when I have to, but I've been married to the same man for 32 years and he's the happiest man I know. Of course, I don't let dirt pile up, but there is always a lot of clutter around.

That mother said her daughter came from a "clean" house. That's nice. But did she come from a happy one?

LOS ALAMITOS, CAL.

DEAR ABBY: I came from one of those homes that was so clean you could eat off the floor. (And incidentally, my father used to spend half his time in the garage — his personal pigsty.)

Now happily married for 19 years, the mother of seven, I am the first to admit that I am a rotten housekeeper. My mother travels across the country to visit us and spends the entire time housecleaning. It's a family joke. ("Grandma is coming to clean the garbage cans!")

BUT MY seven kids bring their friends home by the carload to be wined and dined. My kids wear clothes still warm — fresh out of the dryer.

They are all excellent and I am interested in homework. I read stories to my children and listen to their prayers. My basketball average is pretty good for a woman of 43, and my pool game is even better. And I have time to be on committees, too.

My husband and kids think I'm the greatest. And I probably know better than YOU what your kids are doing, you spotless housekeepers!

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: that others really respect you. You find some very curious early conditions that make you feel you have to make some changes. But they would be adverse, so wait until later when you know what is best for you or one who is an influential position and gives you the answers and the support that you seek. The evening is fine for much activity.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You should wait until later in the day so that you can consult a good expert about what should be done about that problem with a pal. A change in plans is necessary, but be careful. Be wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have problems with a higher-up so be sure you don't say anything you may be sorry for later. A friend will help you later on. Get those important bills paid before you go out to the social.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be diplomatic about postponing some action or plan you had in mind, so that you can give it further study. Forget correspondence that is disturbing. Do utmost to improve your image.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Handle that payment wisely and elevate your thinking to bigger things. Put some good ideas to work to improve your lot in life. Mate may be out of sorts. Make allowances. LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Better wait until later in the day so that you know just how to handle something that another person expects you to do. Do your work in a meticulous way. Evening is fine for hobbies or whatever you like to do best.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Some association matter you do not quite understand needs to be clarified diplomatically. Later you can cooperate nicely. Show best attitude for helpfulness. Be happy with mate in the evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Stop complaining and get busy on that work you have to do. Then get together with those you want to have better understanding. Do work so well

Be clever.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show kin that you are devoted and loyal. Be sure to take them out for amusement they like. Get rid of tensions and get into that hobby you like so very much. Be happy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Shop early. Stay with kin as much as you can for recreation, etc. Let them respect you more. Be sure to get bills paid. Entertaining others at home is fine in the evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Morning requires that you be practical and get on with associates in a cooperative way. Follow ideas of a good business expert. Be happy in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are unable to handle that personal matter early, so wait for a better time. Get busy on financial matters. First be sure to get health improved, then follow advice of a business expert.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Show that you can maintain poise even though there are petty annoyances arising in the morning. Then either accept invitations or extend them. Get the advice you need from an expert and follow it.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will be one of those gregarious young people who likes others, therefore knows how to deal with people properly. Later, this child will be so busy with vocation there will be little time lost in unnecessary conversations. Much knowledge will be acquired early through other persons, which will prove very helpful throughout life. Be sure to discourage any martyr complex early. College fine.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for July is now ready. By Oswald and James Jacoby

A straight line is the shortest distance between two points.

When you know what you intend to bid there is no reason to get to the final contract except by the shortest possible route.

Every South player in the duplicate system game played seven no-trump and every South player but one brought his contract home. The one who missed out had a combination of circumstances to blame.

First of all he never had any intention of playing the hand in anything but trump (remember the game was duplicate). Secondly, he wasted one round of bidding with his three-diamond call. Thirdly he was up against an exceptionally smart West player.

West was one of those players who pay attention to the bidding even though their only interest is that of a listener. He had heard South's three-diamond call and North's jump rebid in spades.

He might well have made the safe, normal lead of the heart jack but West could see what would happen if he made that safe lead. South would win, start to run diamonds, stop when it became apparent that the diamond suit wasn't going to run and finally fall back on the spade finesse. West knew that the spade finesse was going to work.

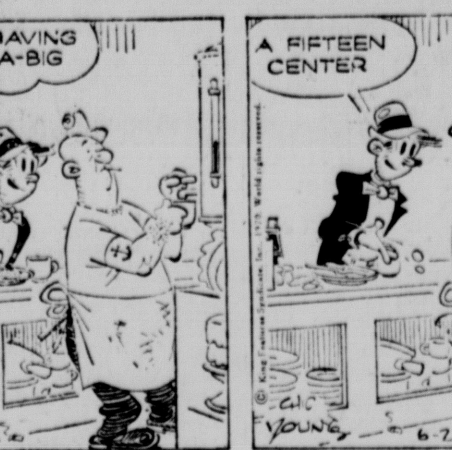

Therefore, West decided to give South a problem at trick one. He led the nine of spades!

What would you do if you were South? Would you take a 50 per cent chance of a spade finesse or a 73 per cent chance of running the diamond suit? You would do just what South did, go up with the ace of spades and lose your contract. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

... THAT THEY MUST EXPRESS THEIR PLEASURE.

"I'd make the water bluer and put some pink in the clouds. All due respect to the Lord, of course!"

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TIRED STAR: (Q.) I am a high-school track star. Last year I was captain and was voted most valuable team member. This year I am a senior. Next year I will be in college.

My father has kept in behind me ever since I started running. So has my coach. They want me to go to college on a track scholarship and be a star there, too.

But I'm sick of nothing but track. I don't want to continue it in college. I want to concentrate on a field where I can use more of my mind. Already in high school I am being cut off from my studies—and also from my girl friend and other friends, too.

My father reads your column and thinks you are fair. What do you think about me and track?—Run Down in Boston.

(A.) You have found a field in which you can excel. Your father and your coach have more experience than you have, and they know the importance of excelling in today's world.

But if track is not what you want to excel in, be honest with them and arrange to go to college as something other than a track star.

Do not abandon, though, the disciplines you have learned—conditioning of body and mind, perseverance, the extra effort that makes some people winners. These will be of value to you all your life—in any field you choose.

NAME LAMENT: (Q.) At Hebrew school our teacher asked us one day to give our Hebrew names. When my turn came I said Mindel. Mindy is my real name and I like it. But since then everybody calls me Mindel and I don't like it. How can I make them stop?—Mindy in New York.

(A.) I like both your names. But if you prefer Mindy, ask your friends to call you that. When anyone calls you Mindel, simply do not answer.

Do not argue or get angry when someone uses the name you do not like. This will encourage them to keep it up. (Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

Busy Summer for Louis Nye

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis Nye, who has been around television since Milton Berle was Mr. TV, is having the busiest summer of his career. He will be host of "Happy Days," a mixture of comedy and music wrapped in nostalgia, the summer replacement of "The Jim Nabors Show" starting Thursday on CBS. During the same period, Nye will star in a revival of the 77-year-old farce, "Charley's Aunt" on Broadway. Nye and his fellow performers already have taped 10 "Happy Days," and the Broadway show will be around for at least three weeks. "But just suppose," said Nye, "that 'Charley's Aunt' turns into a hit, and suppose 'Happy Days' is one, too—gosh, what a dilemma."

In recent seasons some summer replacements—Johnny Cash, Glen Campbell and "Hee Haw"—have done so well they were added to the winter schedules of the networks. Nye's television image as a droll fellow began when he was a member of Steve Allen's troupe of madmen—the others were Don Knotts and Tom Poston—on a bygone variety hour. After his arch characterization of Gordon Hathaway and other strange creatures, he was indelibly classified as a comic.

"But I still think of myself as an actor," Nye said. "In the radio days I was busy playing rotten Nazis, rich uncles and emotional juveniles—the whole span—and the only time I tried to be funny was at parties."

Now Louis works in all areas of show business, from Las Vegas clubs to London TV studios. "I always remember something Jack Benny said—'The best thing to do is to always return to live entertainment with real audiences. It helps you in television if you have been able to earn your laughs the hard way—not by a laugh machine.'"

"Happy Days" will specialize in the mood and music of the 1930s and 1940s, bringing back some of the big stars of the era—Helen O'Connell and Harry James, to name just two—and basing the comedy on the foibles of the period.

President Signs 18-Year-Old Voting Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed into law a bill lowering the voting age to 18 despite doubts about the measure's legality.

He directed the attorney general to seek a swift court test of its constitutionality and, at the same time, urged Congress to proceed with legislation to lower the voting age by constitutional amendment.

The 18-year-old vote provision was attached to a measure extending the Voting Rights Act of 1965 for five years. The act has been credited with enabling a million blacks to register in the South and figured prominently in Nixon's decision to sign the measure.

"Despite my misgivings about the constitutionality of this one provision, I have today signed the bill," Nixon said in a statement Monday.

"If I were to veto, I would have to veto the entire bill—voting rights and all," he said.

The Voting Rights Act will stand even if the courts struck down the 18-year-old vote provision.

"Because the basic provisions of this act are of great importance, therefore, I am giving it my approval and leaving the decision on the disputed provision to what I hope will be a swift resolution by the courts," the President added.

The measure giving 18-year-olds the right to vote will not affect this year's state and congressional elections, since it doesn't become effective until Jan. 1. The act covers all federal, state and municipal elections.

A White House source said Atty. Gen. John Mitchell probably would seek a court test, but added the bulk of the arguments probably would be made by interested parties or friends of the court instead of the government.

Anyone could seek a constitutional test, the source added. The suit could be filed directly with the Supreme Court or with a special three-judge federal court with direct appeal to the high court.

Nixon's plea for Congress to proceed with legislation to lower the voting age by constitutional amendment was to avoid any unnecessary delays in lowering the voting age.

Nixon seeks a quick court test to avoid any future election problems that might result if 18-year-olds were permitted to vote and their ballots were later declared illegal.

An estimated 11 million persons between the ages of 18 and 21 would be permitted to vote under the measure.

In extending the voting rights act that was due to expire in August, Nixon said:

"Although this bill does not include all of the administration's recommendations, it does incorporate improvements which extend its reach still further, suspending literacy tests nationwide and also putting to an end to the present welter of state residency requirements for voting for president and vice president."

Nixon also cited figures disclosing the number of blacks who have been registered under the act and the subsequent election of more than 400 Negro officials in the South.

"These are more than election statistics," he said. "They are statistics of hope, and dramatic evidence that the American system works."

Supreme Court Term Nears End, Strain Becoming More Evident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court term is nearing an end under evident strain. The justices seem to have declared open season on each other.

In decisions Monday and from the bench they sniped at one another's logic and legal precepts. Some sarcasm was thrown in for good measure.

Justice Byron R. White, normally a cool fellow, teed off on Justice John M. Harlan, who had accused him of diluting constitutional protections in declaring the traditional 12-man jury is not required by the Constitution.

White said Harlan's argument was "threadbare" and "without any basis in reason."

Harlan and Justice Hugo L. Black resumed, meanwhile, their decades-old duel over whether the 14th Amendment made the Bill of Rights provisions binding on the states.

Black's position that it did become the majority view in the 1960s.

Harlan said the court should "face up to reality" and reconsider Black's doctrine "before its leveling tendencies further retard development in the field of criminal procedure by stifling flexibility in the states."

Black fired back at Harlan that if anything would dilute the Bill of Rights it would be Harlan's "shock the conscience" test.

That is, Black said, Harlan would decide cases "not on the language of the Constitution but solely on the views of a majority of the court as to what is 'fair' and 'decent'."

In a second opinion, Black attacked the reasoning set forth by White and approved by Justices William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall in guaranteeing a jury trial when defendants could be sent to prison for more than six months.

Black said there was no need to balance costs and speed of nonjury trials against the protections a jury trial provides defendants.

The Constitution, by its very words, provides for jury trials "in all criminal prosecutions," Black said, quoting from the document. "Those who wrote and adopted our Constitution and Bill of Rights engaged in all the balancing necessary," he said sourly.

Black's was not the last shot fired on the point, though.

Justice Potter Stewart, a skilled man with the needle, called Black's judicial theory "plainly and simply wrong as a matter of fact and law."

Stewart said even a schoolboy knows the Bill of Rights was designed as a protection against the power of the federal government and not as a protection against the states.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who can be vitriolic, used sarcasm to dissent from a decision that gave indigents the right to free lawyer at preliminary hearings.

"It is indeed an odd business that it has taken this court nearly two centuries to discover a constitutional mandate to have counsel at a preliminary hearing," he said.

William O. Douglas, the justice most often accused by conservatives of bending the Constitution to his tastes, donned the cloak of "strict construction" to defend the decision.

His remarks obviously were addressed to Burger and those who purportedly favor a strict constructionist reading of the Constitution.

Douglas denied it had taken nearly 200 years to decide whether a preliminary hearing requires a lawyer at the side of the accused. The question simply had never come up before, he said.

New Soil Conditioner Ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public health officials are reported ready to approve an Army plan to turn deadly war germs into a harmless "soil conditioner" to be spread around an Arkansas military base.

The soil conditioner was developed after President Nixon last November ordered all U.S. chemical and biological weapons destroyed by June 30, 1971.

Boris Osheeroff, special assistant to the surgeon general, said in a telephone interview that health authorities were fully satisfied the Army's proposed methods would completely destroy both living organisms and nonliving organic toxins in the biological weapons—rendering them harmless.

The U.S. Public Health Service has been reviewing the Army's plans to destroy virtually its entire stockpile of biological weapons at the Pine Bluff Arsenal in Arkansas, where they are stored. Small quantities of biological weaponry are slated for destruction at other, unidentified, locations.

The Army maintains tight secrecy over its biological warfare weapons but they are known to include the germs of deadly, and highly contagious diseases.

"That was the whole purpose," Osheeroff said, "to get person-to-person spread."

Osheeroff said health officials with security clearance "received full disclosure (about) every organism, including quantities and the way they are packaged," as well as a detailed description of the Army's plans to kill these organisms and destroy other toxic components.

"There is absolutely no chance of a living organism coming through intact," he said.

He said Surgeon General Jesse L. Steinfeld and acting deputy Paul Peterson, reviewing the Army plan, were concerned with keeping the remains of the biological weapons from polluting the local environment upon disposal.

He said that was the reason authorities objected to an Army proposal to dump the residue—already sterilized—through a treatment plant and into the Arkansas River.

An alternate plan to spread a concentrated residue around the Pine Bluff Arsenal as a "soil conditioner" was "more acceptable" from the pollution standpoint, said Osheeroff.

Army officials were reluctant to talk about the plan before its final approval, but they said they understood the Public Health Service would soon approve it with only minor changes.

Once the plan is approved by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, said one Army official, destruction of the germ weapons could begin within 24 hours.

Britain's New Cabinet Meets for First Time

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Edward Heath summoned his new cabinet to its first meeting today to discuss the Conservative party's program to halt inflation and strikes and slash government spending.

Heath was expected to announce a second list of government appointments in addition to the 18-member cabinet he named Saturday.

A third list, consisting of junior ministerial posts, was expected at the end of the week. The prime minister spent much of Monday discussing broad policy plans with senior cabinet members. Among them were Home Secretary Reginald Maudling, Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home, Defense Secretary Lord Carrington and Quintin Hogg, the new lord chancellor.

Government sources said Heath deliberately is avoiding anything like the Kennedy-style "10 dynamic days" his predecessor Harold Wilson announced when he first became prime minister in 1964.

They said the Heath government will give thorough study to the nation's accounts before taking any action to deal with the economy.

But a number of legislative measures in this field were expected to be announced in the speech read by Queen Elizabeth II at the state opening of the new parliament July 2. The speech is written by the government and lists its legislative plans.

Officials said Heath wants to give high priority to reform of the labor unions, including introduction of a mandatory "cooling off" period and provision for legal enforcement of union-management contracts. The new government, officials said, plans a thorough review of public expenditure and taxation with a possible supplementary budget next fall in addition to the annual April budget.

Israeli Commandos Rip Egyptian Post

By United Press International. Israeli commandos crossed the Gulf of Suez by helicopter before dawn today and attacked an Egyptian army post 47 miles inside Egypt, the third such strike in 12 days.

An Israeli military spokesman in Tel Aviv said the commandos shelled the post at Bir Araiya, which he described as the military administrative headquarters for the area, then destroyed two armored personnel carriers and killed all the Egyptian troops in them. The Israeli force returned safely without casualties, he said.

In Cairo, an Egyptian military spokesman said troops and planes drove off the Israeli commandos before they caused either damage or casualties.

On the diplomatic front, the leaders of five militant Arab nations concluded a summit conference in Tripoli, Libya, with a joint pledge to continue fighting against Israel.

"No ceasefire," said President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, vowing his nation would continue to fight despite daily attacks by Israeli warplanes.

The other leaders joining him in the pledge were Presidents Ahmed Hassan Al-Bakr of Iraq and Nouruddin Al-Atassi of Syria, King Hussein of Jordan and Premier Col. Moammar Khadafi of Libya.

Presidents Charles Helou of Lebanon and Abdel Rahman Al-Iryani of Yemen also were in Tripoli as were delegates from Tunisia, the Sudan and the Palestinian command group, Al Fatah, but they did not take part in the summit talks. The talks were held in connection with national celebrations on the withdrawal of American military forces from Libya.

GEORGE CHRISTIAN of 194 Elmendorf Street, Kingston, was graduated from Hope College, Holland, Mich., and received his BA degree. Commencement exercises were held in the Holland Civic Center. Bachelor of arts and music degrees were presented to 417 seniors — the largest graduating class in the college's history.

DANIEL G. HEPPNER of 61 Clifton Avenue, Kingston, was graduated from the College of Business Administration at Boston College, Chestnut Hill, Mass. It was the largest commencement in the college's 107-year history. Some 2668 candidates for graduate and undergraduate degrees participated in the June 8 ceremonies.

Four Kingston Residents Graduate From Ithaca

Three Kingston area residents have been awarded Bachelors degrees by Ithaca College, at the School's 75th Annual Commencement Exercises, which were held in May.

Governor Nelson Rockefeller delivered the principal address at the Commencement. A total of 700 Baccalaureate and 60 Masters degrees were conferred.

The graduates and their degrees include:

Bachelor of Fine Arts in Drama — William T. Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Coles, R.D. 5, Kingston.

Mr. Parker, during his undergraduate career, played the lead in one dramatic production, and supporting or important roles in four others. He is a member of Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic fraternity.

Bachelor of Arts, International Relations Major — Joan Larkin Davis, daughter of the Honorable Arthur A. Davis and Mrs. Davis, 172

JOAN DAVIS

North Manor Avenue, Kingston.

Miss Davis was named to the Dean's List for scholarship, and was elected an officer of Delta Phi Zeta Sorority.

Bachelor of Science in Physical Education — Wesley A. Kissel, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley A. Kissel, Mountain Rd., Samsonville.

Mr. Kissel earned freshman numerals in football, track, and wrestling, where he co-captained the team. He was awarded three varsity letters in football, where he played two years at guard. In his senior year, playing at end, he was selected as the team's "Most Valuable Defensive Player," scoring third in tackles made. He also earned a varsity letter in wrestling, where he competed in the 167-177 pound division. He was a member of the Varsity Club, composed of sports lettermen, and the Physical Education Majors Club.

Magna Cum Laude For Mrs. Zebisch

Sheer determination paid off for Mrs. Josef Zebisch of Syracuse. Despite health setbacks, Mrs. Zebisch, who was graduated from the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing in 1932, studied at the Syracuse University nights. She would take one subject at a time. In her last year, she registered as a full time student and received a scholarship from the Community General Hospital. On June 6, Mrs. Zebisch, the former Margaret Y. Card of Port Ewen, received her BS degree in Nursing — a Magna Cum Laude graduate.

Mrs. Zebisch was elected to Omicron Chapter of Sigma Theta Tau, the National Honor Society of Nursing. Her daughter, Emily Marie Zebisch, will be graduated from Corcoran High School in Syracuse this month and plans to attend State University College at Fredonia in the fall.

Mrs. Zebisch will be teaching this fall at the St. Lawrence University School of Nursing.

Complete Their Studies

DIANA FRANCELLO

The 63rd commencement at the College of New Rochelle in Westchester County, N.Y., was held Sunday, May 24. Addressing the graduates was the Rev. Raymond J. Swords, S.J., president of the College of the Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass.

Among the 202 graduates were Miss Diana Francello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Santo Francello, 200 Main Street, Saugerties, and Miss Catherine Stall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Stall, RF 5, Kingston.

CATHERINE STALL

psychology major, has been a member of the Glee Club, Props and Paint, a dramatic club, and was chairman of the Junior Prom, and a member of the Committee on Drug Abuse. She is a graduate of Academy of St. Ursula, Kingston.

Miss Stall, a French major, has held membership in the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, French Club, Glee Club, the Harlem Drop-out Academy Program and the Christian Appalachian Project Volunteers. She is a graduate of Academy of St. Ursula, Kingston.

Congratulations, Graduates

Your inquiries about our low-cost student loan program for higher education are invited.

TO FUTURE GRADUATES (and their parents): Save ahead for college costs at The Kingston Savings Bank. We'll be glad to help you choose the savings plan best suited to your needs.

We have arranged for high school distribution of the booklet:

"WHAT ABOUT COLLEGE?"

The booklet shows students WHY a college education should be their goal and how this can be accomplished. It anticipates all their questions about college: WHERE to get information, WHEN to take action, HOW to make decisions.

SUNY at New Paltz Lists Area Graduates

29—THE DAILY FREEMAN, JUNE 23, 1970

Dr. Harold Taylor, former president of Sarah Lawrence college and noted analyst of higher education, told an audience of 5,000 attending the 83rd annual commencement at State University College, New Paltz, Sunday, June 7, that a new sensibility among young people is creating a vast change in human relationships which some people do not understand.

In his address, "Teaching and Learning in a Revolution," Dr. Taylor drew applause when he said that the ideas and positive actions of young people today had been a major force in bringing about the protest against and rejection of war and of racial injustice and inequality.

Accepting the Master's diploma on behalf of the 250 graduate students awarded the advanced degree was Wallace H.
